Adm. Rickover Warns Of Russ Sub Buildup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover said the Soviet Union may be ahead of the United States in undersea power and warned a State Department plan to sell nuclear submarines to allies could worsen the balance.

Rickover asserted the poor security among European nations might give the Soviets access to U.S. propulsion technology, even though the nuclear subs in question are older models.

Comments In March
The comments of the admiral, known as father of the nuclear submarine and a long-time champion of naval strength, were made in March before the Joint Atomic Energy Committee and released Sunday.

Rickover also said the Soviet Union had asked the United States for one of its most advanced computers to use in connection with an experimental nuclear accelerator at Serpukhov.

He said Soviet ballistic missile submarines are now stationed off both American coasts, and that its total nuclear fleet may outnumber that of the United States.

"The Soviets are capable of starting tomorrow the biggest war there has ever been," Rickover said, "and frankly I am not confident of the outcome."

Not Confident About War

Rickover said the long-standing State Department proposal to sell used nuclear subs to allies has been opposed by other government agencies. "Only the State Department has kept the matter alive," he said.

"The State Department has very little appreciation for the value of our Polaris submarine propulsion technology and its strategic implications," Rickover said. "They have been trying to give it away for years."

"Little Plaything"
He said a State Department official recently referred to nuclear propulsion technology as "Admiral Rickover's little plaything."

Rickover testified the Soviet Union asked U.S. scientists to arrange for a CDC6600 computer, described as the nation's best, to be installed in Russia in return for scientific information produced by the accelerator.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the joint committee, said his panel blocked the proposal.

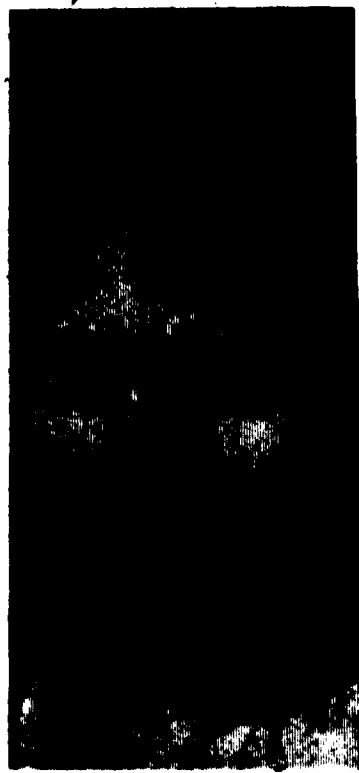

Denied Computer

"Even if we furnished the Soviets a U.S. computer and could assure it was not used for defense purposes, having this powerful unit at Serpukhov would probably free other computers of Soviet design for defense work," Rickover said.

He indicated the Soviet Union apparently made the request in 1969 through Dr. Wolfgang Penzky, director of the linear accelerator laboratory at Stanford University.

The Rickover testimony was released simultaneously with the opening of Senate debate on the $19.2 billion military procurement authorization bill, a measure containing funds for a number of advanced weapons systems, including submarines and ships.

The size of the bill is expected to be hotly contested by Senate advocates of reduced military spending. Rickover said these sessions ignore "the cold hard facts" of what he said is a deteriorating defense posture.

Star Witness Taking Stand In Tate Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A former member of Charles M. Manson's hippie-style "family" who is the state's star witness in the Sharon Tate murder trial will receive immunity from prosecution for her testimony this week, the prosecution says.

The witness, Linda Kasabian, 21, was indicted with Manson and three women followers whose trial resumes today.

She was expected to take the stand this afternoon.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent Bugliosi said in his opening statement Friday Mrs. Kasabian would testify that Manson ordered some of his followers to shoot and stab the seven victims and write messages on the walls in their blood.

Before the trial recessed for the weekend prosecutors introduced the first three of more than 40 witnesses: Miss Tate's father, her estate caretaker and her maid.

Bugliosi said Manson ordered the killings of Miss Tate, a young actress, and six others on two nights last August to demonstrate how blacks might start a war to exterminate whites. Bugliosi said Manson believed the victorious blacks would turn power over to him and his desert-dwelling band as the only surviving whites.

Jordan Accepts U.S. Peace Plan; Youths In Uproar

By The Associated Press

Thousands of youths demonstrated in Amman today to protest acceptance by Jordan and Egypt of a U.S. plan for peace in the Middle East. Syria and Iraq stepped up attacks on the plan, indicating a deepening Arab rift on the issue.

The demonstrators in the Jordanian capital called President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt a coward. The youths appeared to be members of Arab guerrilla organizations and union members.

The Palestinian guerrillas also have assailed the U.S. proposal.

Jordan's acceptance of the plan on Sunday carried a reservation which said the government could not stop the actions of Palestinian guerrillas in continuing to attack inside Israel. The U.S. plan calls for a 90-day cease-fire.

In Algiers, the newspaper El Moudjahid, which usually reflects the views of the Algerian government, also rejected the plan.

The Israeli cabinet postponed a decision on Washington's proposal after a six-hour meeting Sunday. The Jerusalem Post, which usually reflects the Israeli government's thinking, said the cabinet probably will give a "qualified affirmative reply" but will request "firm guarantees that the cease-fire will not be exploited."

The newspaper said Israel would insist on an indefinite cease-fire rather than the 90-day truce period U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers proposed for Egypt, Jordan and Israel. Members of the Israeli government contend that the Egyptians would use a limited cease-fire period to fortify missile sites and other military positions along the Suez Canal.

Sources in Jerusalem said President Nixon had assured Premier Golda Meir after Egypt accepted the plan that the United States would maintain a balance of power in the region.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser approved the proposal last week after the Soviet Union endorsed it. Syria rejected it Sunday as expected, and so did Iraq, which has troops stationed in Jordan.

Jordan's conditional acceptance followed a day-long meeting Sunday of Prime Minister

Abdel Monem Rifai's cabinet and an announcement by the guerrillas Saturday night that they will fight on for "complete liberation of Palestine."

Rifai announced the decision was "unanimous, positive and consistent with the reply of the United Arab Republic (Egypt)."

CELLINO SAN MARCO, Italy (AP) — Romina Power, daughter of the late American actor Tyrone Power and actress Linda Christian, has married Al Bano, one of Italy's top pop singers.

Improved Military Physicals Advocated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard S. Schweiker today called for improved military physical examinations after a government report disclosed the armed services continue to accept men who are physically unfit to serve.

Some men recently inducted were found to have only one kidney, deformed by polio or missing part of a thumb, the Pennsylvania Republican said in releasing a report by the General Accounting Office.

Asks Better Screening

He called on the Pentagon to improve its screening procedures to weed out men physically unfit to serve before induction.

Nearly 40,000 servicemen who were discharged in fiscal 1968 and 1969 within a year of their enlistments were released because of prior physical defects, Schweiker said.

Among the cases, the report said, were those of an Air Force man with a large scar from a kidney removal operation, a Marine released when it was found he had only part of his left thumb, an Air Force man

Order Was Out-Shoot To Kill!

The chairman of a black militant party in Houston, Tex., was fatally shot and four other men wounded Sunday night during what police described as a gun battle between themselves and blacks.

Elsewhere Sunday police in Columbus, Ohio, scattered a crowd of some 350 young persons protesting what they called police repression; Cambridge, Mass., police dispersed about 250 youths setting fires near Harvard Square; and angry Puerto Rican residents in West Chester, Pa., clashed with police for a second successive night.

Houston police said the gunfire there erupted following a rally protesting the arrest of two blacks. A black spokesman said the two "weren't breaking any laws" but Police Chief H. G. Short said they were "walking down the street, one with a pistol, and one with a shotgun."

"We were shooting to kill," said police intelligence chief C.J. Norris. "They were shooting to kill me and I sure wasn't going to shoot for their legs. This isn't a cowboy movie where you shoot to wound them."

Dead was Carl Hampton, 21, chairman of the People's Party II. Police said they found a shotgun near where he fell with an abdominal wound. He died in a hospital several hours later.

White Man Injured
Among the injured was Roy B. Haile, Jr., 24, a white, whom police said was associated with the militant Students for a Democratic Society. He was in poor condition at the hospital with abdominal wounds.

About 75 persons were arrested and police said they seized numerous weapons and Black Panther party literature in the party headquarters building where the rally took place.

Last Wednesday, black militant Ovid Duncantell told the council (Houston City Council) that People's Party II had "secured" an area around its headquarters and "will fight until we're all dead" to keep police out.

Law Will Be Enforced
Chief Short said today "the law will be enforced (there) ... or anywhere and everywhere else that needs it. There is no place in this city where a policeman cannot go."

Duncantell said the two originally arrested "weren't breaking any laws. This is the way the pigs react to this kind of situation. This ain't the end of it. They ambushed a brother. We don't know what will happen to Houston."

In Columbus, Ohio police used a new type of scatter gun early Sunday to end what police described as "a six minute war" near the Ohio State University campus.

A crowd of 350 young persons broke up when police began lobbing baton-like canisters which burst when they hit the street into inch-wide discs.

Fifteen Arrested
Fifteen persons were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct, intoxication, obstructing sidewalks and vagrancy.

One youth was injured when he resisted arrest, police said. A leaflet had announced the gathering as a protest of "police harassment" and general repression.

In Cambridge, Mass., police dispersed about 250 young people said to be setting fires near Harvard Square Sunday as they marked the 17th anniversary of Fidel Castro's Cuban revolutionary movement.

Five persons were arrested. There were no reported injuries. In West Chester, Pa., angry Puerto Rican residents clashed with police Saturday and Sunday nights, throwing rocks and bottles.

State Police Help
Helmeted state police aided borough police and those of neighboring towns.

Local police refused to say whether any persons were arrested. Some police reportedly suffered cuts from broken glass, but there were no serious injuries.

Violence began Saturday when nearly 300 persons converged on a tavern after hearing a rumor that Ramon Torres, 44, had died of injuries received Friday in a fight with a bartender. Torres was in critical condition Sunday.

Top Portugal Official Dies

LISBON (AP) — Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, premier and dictator of Portugal for 36 years, died at his home in Lisbon today after a long illness. He was 81 and Europe's longest surviving government chief in modern times.

The government secretary of information said Salazar died at 9:45 a.m.

President Américo Thomas, the Admiral Salazar elevated in 1958, was touring Portuguese provinces in Africa and was immediately notified of the death. He was expected to return to Lisbon immediately.

The bachelor premier, who suffered a stroke in September 1968 which left him partially paralyzed and forced his retirement. He developed a kidney ailment in 1968 and died after a long illness.

A recent official Salazar loved power but hated its trappings. Ruler of the world's last great Victorian-style overseas empire, he lived like an obscure clerk. Simplicity, frugality and austerity marked his personality.

A shy, ebullient man, he was rarely seen by his subjects. He had a nervous personality, he had lost 180 pounds and lived in a cottage in the village where a war began.

But from the day he took over as premier in 1926, he led Portugal and its African colonies into a long gap. He began his development but did not prevail during his lifetime in the African colonies of Angola, Mozambique and Guinea.

Nixon, Aides Study Defense Unit Spending

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)

President Nixon set up two sessions with advisers today, one on cutting defense costs and another for an over-all look at the economy, following a weekend baseball outing.

Flying in to meet with Nixon were Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and Deputy Secretary David Packard to discuss a blue ribbon task force's recommendations on a probable Pentagon reorganization.

The President scheduled another session an hour later to confer with top domestic policy advisers on an "overview of the economy."

As a followup to discussion of expected Pentagon reorganization plans, Nixon will meet again Tuesday with Laird, Packard and his top budget-making officials for "preliminary discussions" on the defense budget for the 1972 fiscal year that begins next July 1.

On Sunday, Nixon left the womenfolk of the family at their oceanfront villa here and went by helicopter to sit through a baseball slugfest at Anaheim Stadium—home of the California Angels. After 11 innings and nearly four hours, the Angels knocked the Washington Senators 11-10.

White Panther Held On Bond Of $100,000

DETROIT (AP) — Lawrence "Pun" Plamondon, 26-year-old self-styled revolutionary defense minister of the White Panther Party and member of the FBI's Ten Most Wanted List remains in Wayne County jail today after arraignment Saturday on charges of conspiracy and bombing.

Plamondon was held on $100,000 bond after U.S. District Court Judge Lawrence Guboe entered a plea of innocent for him after he said he didn't have a lawyer, and wouldn't accept a court appointed attorney.

The former Traverse City native is accused in connection with the bombing of Central Intelligence Office in Ana Arbor Sept. 24, 1968. A pre-dawn blast shattered a large window and damaged furniture, but no one was injured.

Plamondon was arrested Thursday near St. Ignace in the Upper Peninsula after State Police stopped him and two others for littering while driving along the highway.

Sheriff Was Upset, Collins' Jury Told

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The owner of an Ypsilanti wig shop testified today that Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas Harvey was visibly upset when she failed to identify pictures of John Norman Collins.

Mrs. Joan Goshe testified that the sheriff showed her pictures of Collins the night after the 23-year-old Eastern Michigan University student was arrested and charged with killing Karen Sue Beineman.

Mrs. Goshe had testified last

Thursday that she saw Collins and Miss Beineman, an 18-year-old Eastern Michigan freshman from Grand Rapids, ride away from her wig shop on a motorcycle July 23, 1969.

That was the last time anyone reported seeing the coed alive. Her body was found in a ravine July 26 of last year. She had been beaten and strangled and was the seventh young woman to be found brutally slain in the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti area over a two-year span.

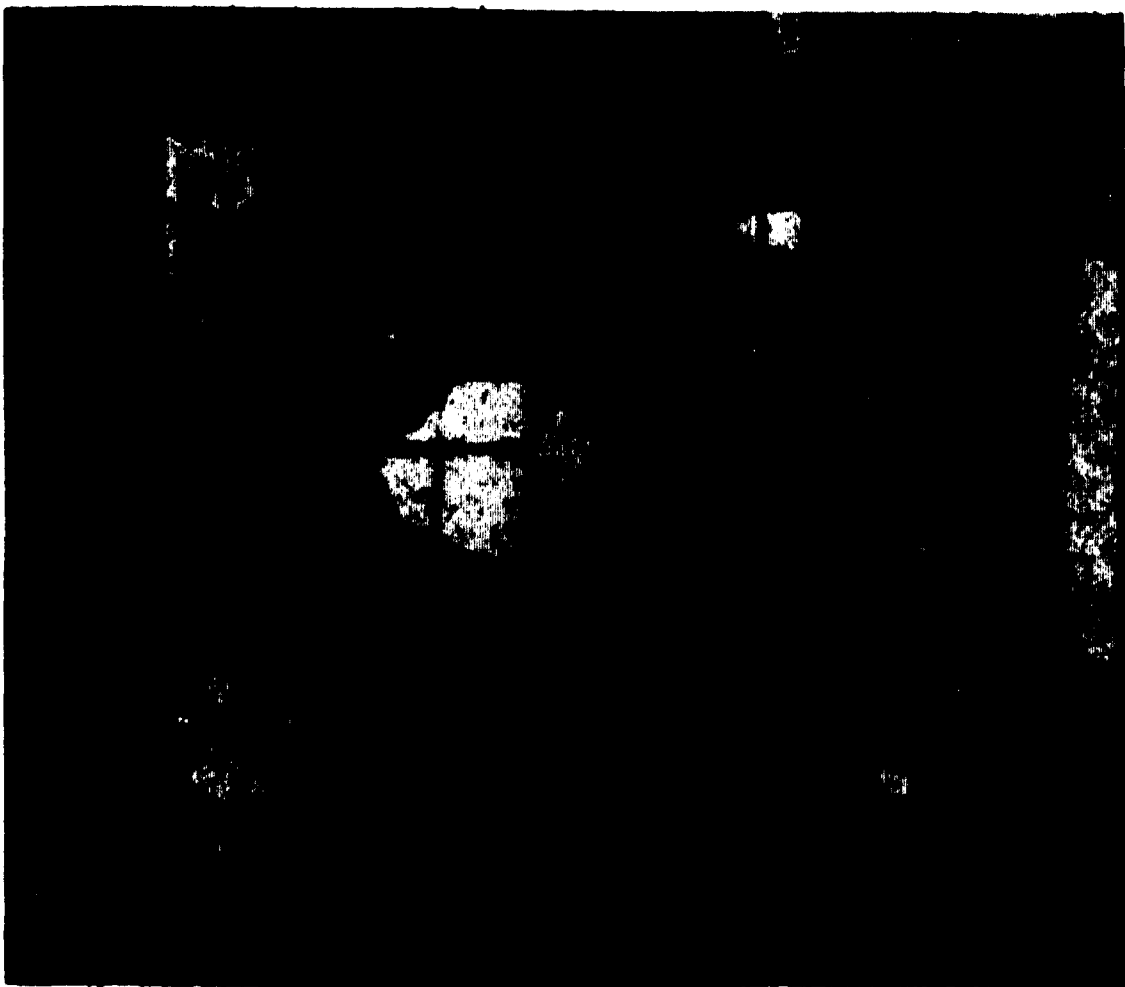

Under re-direct examination by Prosecutor William Delhey, Mrs. Goshe explained why she told the court Thursday that she had lied under oath twice previously.

"I did it to protect my son from my family," she said. The woman explained that the lies came when she claimed she was married to a man with whom she lived for more than eight years.

Mrs. Goshe said she tried to run away from home and marry the man in 1958 when she was only 15. She said they were not allowed to marry because of her age, but returned to her home town and claimed they had been married.

She said she had always claimed to be married "because of the effect on a little boy who had to grow up in the community. I made a mistake. He shouldn't have to pay for it."

Another witness, Carol Wizerka, who worked at a chocolate shop next door to the wig shop, testified she is unable to identify the man she saw on a motorcycle outside her store the day Miss Beineman disappeared.

He and two others were apprehended by Mackinac County Sheriff Deputy Jim Lietzow, right, and a Michigan State Police trooper. Indian Burial Now Museum Attraction

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Summer Island's Indian burial — more than usually noteworthy because of the arrow point imbedded in the breastbone of the skeleton — has been reconstructed and is a center of attraction in the Delta County Historical Museum at Escanaba.

Summer Science Camp students of archaeology discovered the burial on July 10, 1969. The archaeology project at the science camp for high school age students was directed by Peter Carruthers of the University of Wisconsin, and the bones have been at the University for study. There they were reassembled as when they were found, and were brought to Escanaba and the Historical Museum by Carruthers.

In Shallow Grave
They are placed in a special case which will properly display them here, and will protect them when they are transported to the Summer Science Camp on Summer Island for the Kresge Hall dedication to be held Aug. 8. The bones will then be returned to the Delta County Museum.

Briefly Told

The marching band of Holy Name High School will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the band room of the school.

Players de Noc will hold a board meeting in Room 10 at Bay de Noc Community College Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Any interested member of the group is welcome to attend.

Delta County Trades and Labor Council meets Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center.

The book entitled "The Lake Superior Iron Ore Railroad" by Patrick C. Dorin is available at the Escanaba Public Library for circulation.

The Gold Star Mothers Club July meeting has been cancelled. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be held Aug. 25th at the VFW Hall.

City police are investigating the theft of two tires from a car on Saturday. Officers said Gaudette had been sawing wood in the McFarland area and had left the saw at the location overnight and when he returned the following morning the saw was missing. Police are continuing their investigation.

A break-in of a cabin owned by Clark Mongiat of Negaunee, located in Wells Township, Marquette County, was reported to State Police. Officers said entry was made by forcing open the front door and several old guns valued at about $50 had been taken.

Discovery of the burial and the researches that followed are indicative of the scope of studies at the Science Camp, directed by Dan Stevens. The camp is now in its second 1970 summer session.

Student Ronald E. Reid of Genesee, Mich., one of the historical archaeology group supervised by Carruthers, found the burial at a depth of about 3 feet 8 inches. The project group included Jeff Bruce of Flint, George Gibson of Ann Arbor, Karen Mudar of Pinckney, and Margaret Mosenfelder of Escanaba. These students were in Escanaba on Saturday and assisted in placing the burial on display at the Museum.

Arrow In Chest
The young people are enrolled in the second session of Science Camp which opened Sunday. Some students, including Miss Mosenfelder, are attending both sessions.

Ron Reid reports on the find in Summer Science Journal: "On the basis of preliminary examination, the individual was male, between the ages of 25-35, approximately 5 feet 6 inches tall, and quite strongly built. The skeleton had several interesting features: a projectile point lodged in his sternum (breast bone), a three inch mark (indicating the possibility of a cut) on his left femur; the pre-death loss of two right molars, and two abscesses."

Neither Carruthers nor the young scientists speculate on the circumstances which resulted in the wounding of the Indian warrior who lived from 200 or 300 to 500 to 600 years ago. This is left to the Indian lore enthusiasts.

Cause Of Death
Carruthers says a piece of the arrow tip broke off and the bone grew around it.

"It seems that although the wound was not the primary cause of death, it may have led to complications which eventually led to the individual's demise," Carruthers reports.

The arrow had entered the breast bone from the left, obliquely and angling slightly upward.

Although the dramatic incident of centuries ago that brought death to the warrior will never be known, the silent evidence of his fate creates one of the most interesting exhibits in the Historical Museum.

Indian Burial Now Museum Attraction

By CLINT DUNATHAN

Summer Island's Indian burial — more than usually noteworthy because of the arrow point imbedded in the breastbone of the skeleton — has been reconstructed and is a center of attraction in the Delta County Historical Museum at Escanaba.

Summer Science Camp students of archaeology discovered the burial on July 10, 1969.

The archaeology project at the science camp for high school age students was directed by Peter Carruthers of the University of Wisconsin, and the bones have been at the University for study. There they were reassembled as when they were found, and were brought to Escanaba and the Historical Museum by Carruthers.

In Shallow Grave

They are placed in a special case which will properly display them here, and will protect them when they are transported to the Summer Science Camp on Summer Island for the Kresge Hall dedication to be held Aug. 8. The bones will then be returned to the Delta County Museum.

Discovery of the burial and the researches that followed are indicative of the scope of studies at the Science Camp, directed by Dan Stevens. The camp is now in its second 1970 summer session.

Student Ronald E. Reid of Genesee, Mich., one of the historical archaeology group supervised by Carruthers, found the burial at a depth of about 3 feet 8 inches.

The project group included Jeff Bruce of Flint, George Gibson of Ann Arbor, Karen Mudar of Pinckney, and Margaret Mosenfelder of Escanaba. These students were in Escanaba on Saturday and assisted in placing the burial on display at the Museum.

Arrow In Chest

The young people are enrolled in the second session of Science Camp which opened Sunday. Some students, including Miss Mosenfelder, are attending both sessions.

Ron Reid reports on the find in Summer-Science Journal: "On the basis of preliminary examination, the individual was male, between the ages of 25-35, approximately 5 feet 6 inches tall, and quite strongly built. The skeleton had several interesting features; a projectile point lodged in his sternum (breast bone), a three inch mark (indicating the possibility of a cut) on his left femur; the pre-death loss of two right molars, and two abscesses."

Neither Carruthers nor the young scientists speculate on the circumstances which resulted in the wounding of the Indian warrior who lived from 200 or 300 to 500 to 600 years ago. This is left to the Indian lore enthusiasts.

Cause Of Death

Carruthers says a piece of the arrow tip broke off and the bone grew around it.

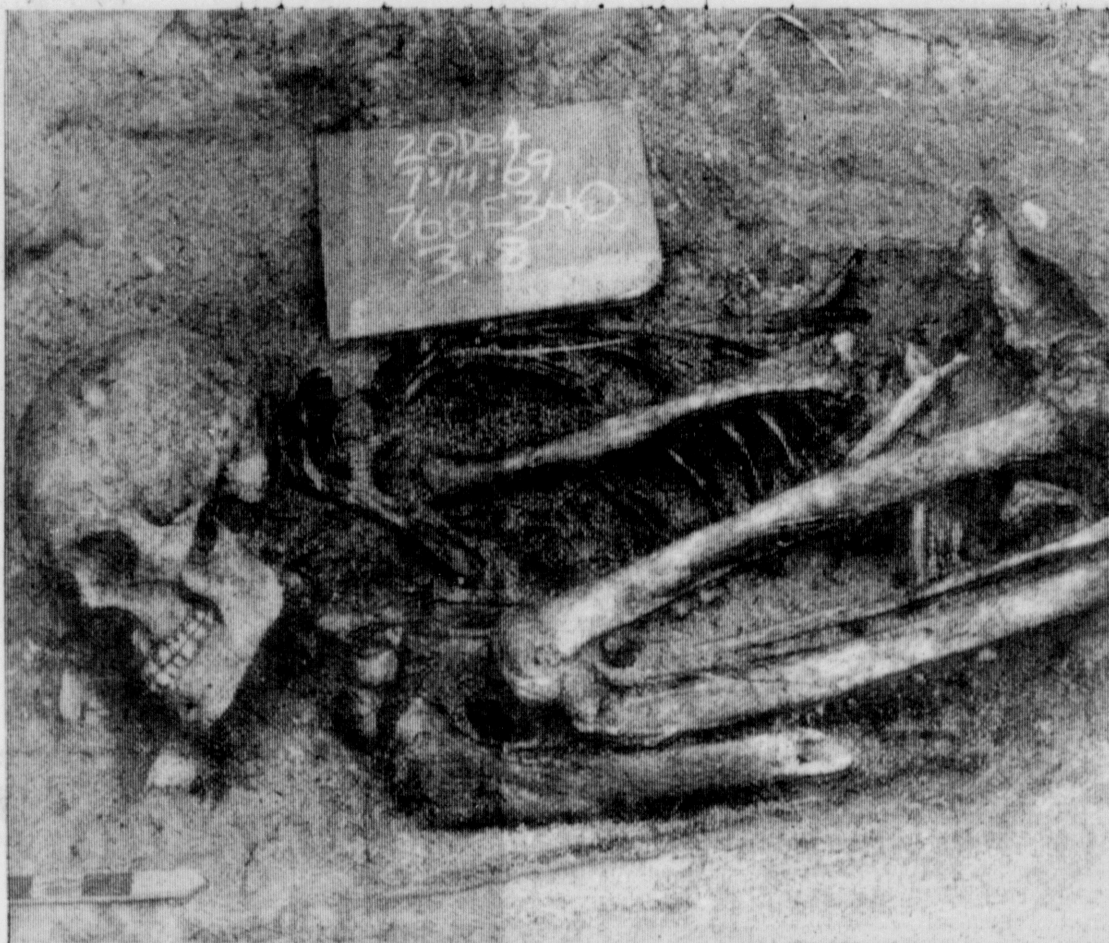

"It seems that although the wound was not the primary cause of death, it may have led to complications which eventually led to the individual's demise," Carruthers reports.

The arrow had entered the breast bone from the left, obliquely and angling slightly upward.

Although the dramatic incident of centuries ago that brought death to the warrior will never be known, the silent evidence of his fate creates one of the most interesting exhibits in the Historical Museum.

UN Experts Stumped About Cause Of Crimes

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A new U.N. report says that despite long investigation, the experts still do not know what causes crime.

"Despite the years of extensive and intensive study and research in many countries, the vital factors causing crime still escape unequivocal, positive identification," says a paper prepared by the U.N. Secretariat.

Delinquency Main Cause

"For nearly every factor known to be associated with delinquency, from 'broken homes' and mental deficiency to overcrowding, delinquent subcultures, child neglect and poverty, it is still possible to show at least as many young people subjected to such conditions who do not commit crime as those who do."

The paper is titled "Social Defense Policies in Relation to Development Planning. It lists as 'the main aspects of development which have been thought' potentially crime-inducing: urbanization, industrialization, population growth, migration from farm to city and technological change.

Urbanization, it explains, means more "uncontrolled children on the streets of a town" and "implies more opportunities for crime with less risk of detection and a disturbing juxtaposition of affluence and poverty."

"The effect of industrialization on crime is said to be through other factors: ... offering work to women who then may not be able to give proper care to their children ... young people being attracted to town when there is still not sufficient work to go around ...

"Excessive population growth leads to crime by adding weight to the burden on the wage earner, overcrowding small houses, overcrowding school facilities ...

"However ... most of these influences have provoked endeavor and greatness as well as delinquency. It depends on the person."

Reason Unchanged

Though crime in general grows as a country develops, the paper states, "the proportionate difference between male and female delinquency usually remains unchanged until the later phases of development and

Negro Slain, Girl Wounded In Kidnaping

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — A young Detroit man was found shot to death in Grapevine Creek near South Bend today after his wounded girl companion staggered into a suburban residence.

Jon Hanley of the St. Joseph County Police Department said the girl reported two white men abducted her and the young man from a Detroit outdoor theater.

Names of the victims, both black, were not disclosed immediately.

Police issued a pickup order for a 1964 Dodge Dart bearing a Michigan license and two men about 30 years old.

Hanley said the girl had been beaten, shot in the head and raped. She walked about 700 feet from the scene of the attack to the home of Daniel Nowick, 57, on suburban Rush Road, and he called police and an ambulance.

The girl was hospitalized in South Bend and reported in satisfactory condition.

Hanley said the dead man's feet and hands were bound. He had been shot in the head and possibly in the back.

Dr. Samuel Koscielski, St. Joseph County deputy coroner, began an investigation but issued no immediate report on the exact cause of death. The body lay in the creek about 2 1/2 miles southwest of South Bend.

Police said the hunted car was believed to be traveling west toward Gary, Ind.

GIs, Military Employees Told About Vote Rights

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's servicemen and U.S. military employees overseas do not come under the regular voting registration deadlines, Gov. William Milliken reminded today.

"It is important that we at home do our part to remind those in the armed services they can register and vote no matter where they are," Milliken said.

Servicemen and civilian employees of the armed forces, either at home or overseas, can obtain standard armed forces voting application forms. These need only to be sent to their local city or township clerk.

"Anyone overseas should act quickly even though registration deadlines are waived for them," Milliken said. "More time is necessary for making long distances and elections officials are much more busy during these times."

The regular voting registration deadline was July 3 for the primary this year and Oct. 31 for the general election.

Road Change Set

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Commission announced today that it has approved a corridor for the reconstruction and relocation of 11 miles of M-60 from east of Niles to the east limits of Cassopolis in Cass County.

The project will run from the end of the dual pavement at Niles northeast to the north junction with M-66 in Cassopolis, the commission reported.

Approval by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads will clear the way for the department to lay out a specific route and design.

Cleanest 'Auto' Race Predicted

ANN ARBOR (AP) — It should be one of the cleanest races ever.

Two cars being readied at the University of Michigan and one at Oakland University at Rochester to compete in a Boston-to-Los Angeles car race. But the accent will be on pollution control, instead of speed.

The entries — the only ones from the state of Michigan — are among those entered by about 50 universities throughout the nation. The races start at Boston Aug. 17.

The purpose of the race is to make the public aware of efforts by universities, industry and government to create non-polluting vehicles.

Students in the U-M mechanical engineering department have taken the present internal combustion engine and modified it. Oakland University is to enter an electric car.

The U-M students contend that working with the internal combustion engine is the only way that automakers will be able to practically meet 1975 federal emission standards.

The U-M's student chapter of the Society of Automotive Engineers has been working on the Volkswagen station wagon, donated by a local Volkswagen dealer, and Chevelle donated by General Motors Corp.

The VW features anti-pollution devices such as electronically controlled water injection, catalytic converters in the exhaust system, air injection to exhaust ports, and a temperature-controlled spark retard.

The other U-M car, the Chevelle, as being fitted with catalytic converters, air injection and low compression engine heads.

Members of the VW driving team include David Olds of Ann Arbor, Marshall Graves of Muskegon, and William Oliver of Williamsport, N.Y.

Richard Waggoner of Detroit led in preparing the Chevelle. On the Chevelle driving team are Richard Winsor of Fandwood, N.J., Claude Mehnert of Bay City; William Bassee of Birmingham, and Ingo Deters of Howell.

The winners in the contest will be determined by combining measures of performance, safety, low emissions, and ability to compete each leg of the race on time. The race was organized by professors at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and California Institute of Technology.

Education Bill Hassle Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election-year spending controversy between the White House and Congress is likely to flare again Tuesday when the Senate considers a $4.4 billion education appropriation bill.

The measure was to have come up today, but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, in a last-minute switch, put it off for a day.

The original ferris wheel, named after its constructor, George W. Ferris, was built in Chicago.

'Slim' Carlson Still Trapping At Age 85

By EDDIE ADAMS

LAKE MINCHUMINA, Alaska (AP) — After the Indians, they were the first of the first—the trappers.

The wilderness was their home, its game their quarry. For a dwindling few it still is.

Hjalmar "Slim" Carlson is 85 now. And still trapping. He is a portrait almost frozen in time ... dog team and sled ... a one-room log cabin with a bed, battered sofa, a tree trunk for a chair and a crude wooden table above his homestead, the towering mass of Mt. McKinley.

Not Lonely Man

"An awful lot of people on the outside no doubt would think I'm a lonely man. You can tell them I wouldn't trade my life with any of them. How can I get lonely with so much to do? And I have my dogs."

"Television? You can have it. I wouldn't accept one as a gift. I prefer reading. Anyway, I don't have electricity."

His one contact with the outside is a battery-powered short-wave radio on a shelf near his bed.

No Riots, Just Mosquitoes

"The whole world has gone crazy," says Carlson. "We don't have riots out here. Just mosquitoes." His nearest neighbor is 15 miles away. But distance is nothing in the wilderness. Carlson's trappings are 50 miles from his cabin.

He generally walks it nowadays. At his age, his dogs sometimes are a little hard to handle. But he remains hardy on a diet of caribou, vegetables from his garden and fish from his lake.

Besides his radio, Carlson keeps contact with the world by subscribing to a book club and a variety of magazines—including Field and Stream. But he knows the hard demands on a mail completely on his own.

Chops Off Thumb

"Once my big toe froze, so I cut it off. Another time I chopped off my left thumb—accidentally. I tried to sew it back on, unsuccessfully. Its either operate on yourself or die."

Imitation fur is more of a concern right now to the old trapper than his rugged life. Sable pelts now bring only $15 or $20. In 1948 they were worth $72 each.

But his knowledge is more fundamental than the market place. He knows that wolves don't attack dogs or human beings, that "you can get five gallons of good grease from a black bear. Good for baking and frying doughnuts."

Carlson sleeps when he likes, reads when he likes, gets up when he likes. "And I always have my dogs to talk to. When they start answering back, I know I'll be in trouble."

UN Experts Stumped About Cause Of Crimes

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A new U.N. report says that despite long investigation, the experts still do not know what causes crime.

"Excessive population growth leads to crime by adding weight to the burden on the wage earner, overcrowding small houses, outgrowing school facilities ...

Reason Unchanged

Though crime in general grows as a country develops, the paper states, "the proportionate difference between male and female delinquency usually remains unchanged until the later phases of development and urban complexity, when female delinquency increases."

In those phases, too, come "the tremendous increase in drug trafficking and drug taking and the effect of this on the rise of other crimes (because of the addicts' need to obtain funds for drugs)."

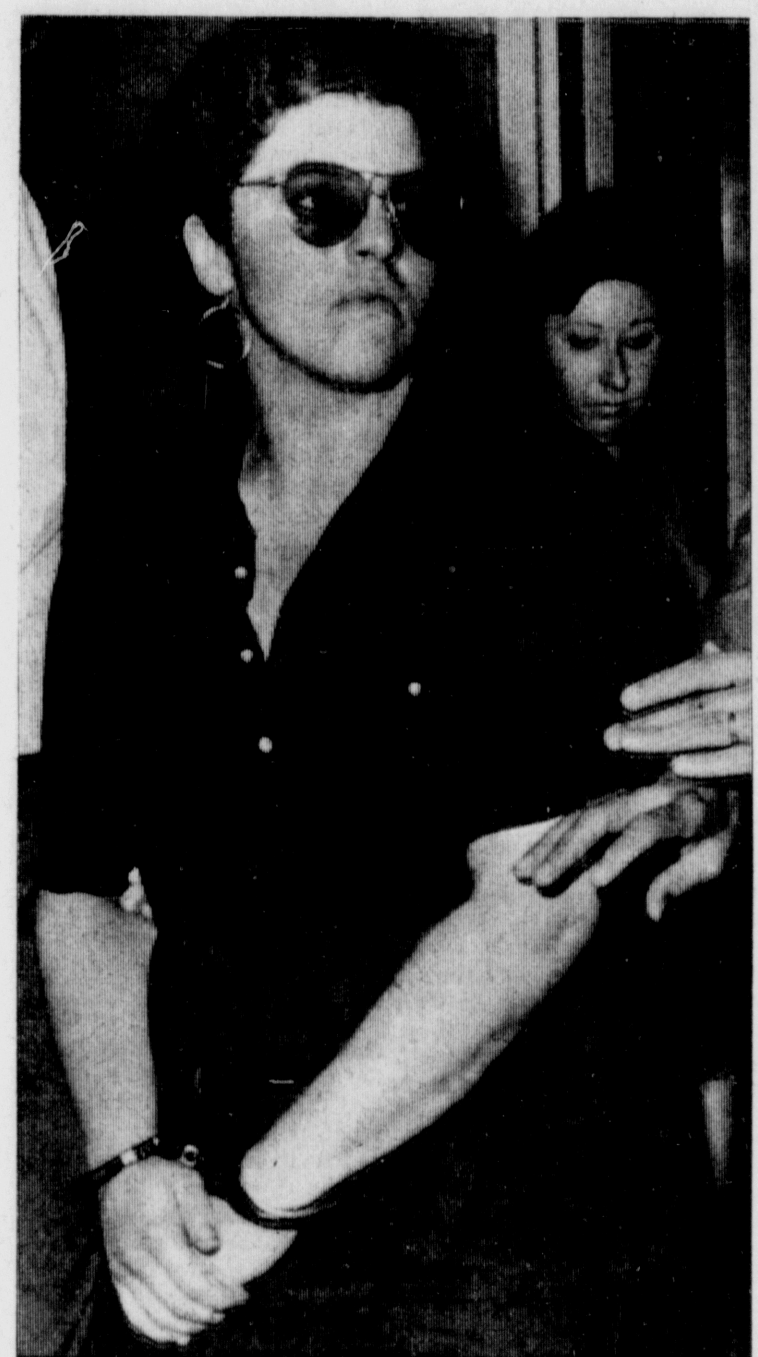

"Mass communications and the development of a 'youth culture' in the world make it likely that 'this is a fashion which could cross frontiers easily ...

Can't Be Pinned Down

Though the causes of crime can't be pinned down, the paper suggests it is "already possible to project, at least in broad terms, the amount and types of crime in a society five years hence, using certain assumptions about population growth, rate of urban growth, police strength, etc."

Using such projections, it says, the authorities of a country might try one thing after another to hold the crime level down; for example, rural development projects for unemployed youth, child health schemes stressing behavior, housing especially designed for problem children, new banking practices to discourage robberies, and decentralization of police control.

The paper will be discussed at the Fourth U.N. Conference on the Prevention of Crime and the Treatment of Offenders, to be held in Kyoto, Japan, Aug. 17-26.

Bottle Ban

When students of Bay de Noc Community College hiked from Escanaba to Gladstone a few weeks ago to dramatize their concern over the environment, a large part of the trash they picked from the sides of the highway took the form of discarded beer and soft drink cans and bottles. The same held true in other cleanups by youngsters along the Escanaba River and county roads in the area.

And just about every year there is a bill introduced in the Michigan Legislature which would ban disposable cans and bottles in Michigan. The bill gets some support, but it generally dies a quiet death in committee.

The mail the other day brought word, however, that at least one community has taken action to ban the sale of all non-returnable soft drink and beer containers. The City Council of Bowie, a suburban community of 40,000 in the Washington area, passed an ordinance which provides a penalty of $100 per day against any store selling beverages in throw-away containers after the effective date of the ordinance, April 1, 1971. Bowie Mayor Leo Green said the effective date was delayed in order to give the Maryland Legislature a chance to pass a statewide ban early next year.

Whether or not the City of Bowie, Md., will stand against the nation if other councils and state legislatures fail to pass comparable laws or whether the action by the Bowie Council heralds the beginning of a nation-wide movement remains to be seen. But there certainly are strong points in support of the action.

Congressman Joseph P. Viorito (D-Pa.) praised the action of the Bowie Council and said he is studying the possibility of Congressional action. T. J. Hamilton, director of the Crusade for a Cleaner Environment, said:

"By using returnable bottles and cans for such beverages as soft drinks and beer, Americans could have their cake and eat it, too. This is one area in which the public could carry on a positive 'do-it-yourself' ecology campaign which would clear up one phase of pollution, leave landscapes and cities more beautiful and save both in the cost of beverages and in the cost of litter pickup and waste disposal. By using more returnable, money-back containers for soft drinks and beer, consumers and taxpayers could save money on out-of-pocket cost of such drinks, as well as the cost of trash collection disposal."

Hamilton estimated Americans might spend $705 million per year if they purchased all soft drinks in returnable, money-back containers. Another $800 million could be saved by beer buyers, he said.

That money, of course, would be scattered to every man, woman and child in the country and for all practical purposes impossible to use for any national environmental crusade. But the savings to government in cleaning up the litter along highways and in parks — and the Bay de Noc students will testify about the volume — to say nothing of preserving the environment would be well worth the consumer inconvenience.

'Persons Of Interest'

Are you one of those "persons of interest"? If so, the federal government might have a secret file on you, even though you have no criminal record, have served your country with honor and have paid your taxes. Various agencies are amassing and storing in computers information on hundreds of thousands of Americans classified as "persons of interest" who may have done nothing more than embarrass a government official.

One of the leading opponents of these files on "persons of interest" is Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who is chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights. He warns that the computerized files represent "a mass surveillance system unprecedented in American history."

It is ridiculous, but "persons of interest" to the Secret Service include "malcontents." Who isn't malcontent around April 15? The Department of Health, Education and Welfare keeps records on some 300,000 school-age children of migrants. HEW divulges information to local school districts on migrant children such as their grades and "negative attitudes" in other schools. What boy, at one time or another, doesn't have a "negative attitude" toward school? What if he doesn't like school, so what?

A chief objection to this obsession for collecting information on law-abiding citizens is that it is an invasion of privacy, and an infringement of the rights of free speech and of peaceable assembly, protected by the Fifth Amendment. A person thinking about going to hear a speech opposing fluoridation, for example, which the Department of Health, Education and Welfare supports, might hesitate if he thought the federal government was going to spy on him and keep his attendance on file even though he will might oppose the ideas espoused at the meeting. Along with the right to speak goes the right to listen.

Senator Ervin dryly notes that he frequently "embarrasses" government officials and also is a malcontent, adding that he therefore is qualified for the files. His comment would be funny if the subject weren't so serious.

Government's task in a free society is to make it safe for people to express, without fear, what they think. Federal snooping suppresses that right.

FOR WHOM THE BELL RINGS

Will Oil Geologists Save Western Necks?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The Foreign Minister of Ruritania, who always takes the long view even at the risk of being misbranded as a cynic, was discussing Soviet policy.

"It's ten to one," he said, "that the background page in your Sunday newspaper will contain think-pieces saying (a) that Moscow would like to bring Hanoi to the peace table but can't do it because of the nasty Red Chinese, (b) that a calm-down in the Middle East is in the works because neither of the two great atomic superpowers really wants a nuclear confrontation, and (c) that the Russians are rather sorry for the Czechoslovakian affair and would like to make amends for it by helping West Germany's Willy Brandt deliver something tangible on his Ostpolitik."

"Of course," the hard news that comes with Monday morning's paper invariably smears mustard pie over the faces of the Sunday think-piece artists. The story of the 100-pound rockets that hit Saigon discloses that the explosives were made in Russia. The latest communique from the diplomatic front in Washington speculates about the movement of Sam-II missiles to the Suez Canal front, and even to Syria, and there is the further disclosure that the U.S. is really sending Phantom Jets and electronic radar-jamming gear to Israel.

"As for the feeling that there is a permanent cool-off in east central Europe that favors Willy Brandt, it must somehow be accommodated to the news that Yugoslavia and Red China have suddenly become cozy, an obvious indication that Tito and Mao are huddling together for warmth precisely because they fear Brezhnev means business about telling other socialist countries what to do."

"However," said the Foreign Minister of Ruritania with an impish look in his eye, "I now find myself feeling that the optimistic think-piece writers have something going for them. They don't realize why they might very possibly turn out to be right, and I wouldn't even give them a low D for their ability to link cause and effect. But it could be that the foreign policy line which the Soviets have been following for years is about to be struck a mortal blow from a totally unsuspected source."

"Years ago," the Foreign Minister continued, "I listened to your Whitaker Chambers, who predicted that all Soviet moves of the Fifties and Sixties would be predicated on the necessity of closing in on Western Europe from the Mediterranean South. Chambers kept pointing to Suez, to the oil fields of the Arabian countries, and to Algeria and Morocco. And, of course, he was 100 per cent correct in his fears."

"The Russians have kept the U.S. off balance by forcing it to stay in South Vietnam. Meanwhile they have been putting the squeeze on Israel. Eventually they expect to get control of the Arab oil fields all the way from Libya to the Persian Gulf. When and if this happens, they will tell Western Europe what to do if it wants to live through the winter without freezing."

"This," said the Foreign Minister, "has been the grand design. A pity you didn't see it when Chambers saw it. But now, just as the Russians have reason to think victory is in their grasp, it could all turn sour."

"I refer, of course, to the most recent news about oil strikes in the North Sea. Not too long ago Phillips Petroleum announced that its oil find in the middle of the North Sea would add more than seven billion barrels to the world's reserve supply. And now comes a story that Standard Oil has made a big strike off the Norwegian coast. There is a third potentially big entry in the North Sea oil stakes: the Tenneco Company has found oil near the Dutch coast."

"So Western Europe may be off the hook of dependency on Arab oil, just as the U.S. could be free of Arab blackmail if it would only get busy about exploiting its 30-billion-barrel Alaskan North Slope find."

"You Westerners continue to have the luck that Bismarck once said belonged to drunks, fools, and the United States of America. You botch your foreign policy, your think-piece journalists have never learned how to put two and two together, and you let the Marxists fool you into thinking they represent 'world opinion.' But then you strike oil in Alaska and the North Sea, and all of Moscow's carefully laid bets are off."

"Your knowledge of history is nil, and your technology is superb, but you are in Ruritania, who have to live between the giants, thank God that your oil geologists are far, far better than your statesmen."

Switching Jobs Could Solve Some Problems

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The worker is 45 but he feels 55. He is tired, bored, irritable. He feels the boss is down on him and that the company has been unfair. He feels justified in taking a day off every now and then.

You recognize the fellow. You probably know a dozen like him and maybe you recognize his problems as your own. There are millions with the symptoms. What should they do?

Suggests Quitting
Well, for one thing they might consider quitting their jobs, says a report by the Blue Cross Association, whose business is health.

The association makes the suggestion in all seriousness as evidence mounts that it is the frustrated self-hater who gets the ulcers and the coronaries rather than the successful man who continues moving toward the top.

Questions Proposed
For those between the ages of 40 and 65: You might consider changing jobs, the association says, if you answer most of these questions affirmatively.

—Is the company unfair or unfeeling?
—Do your superiors expect you to fail?

—Do you drag yourself to work, or stay home at the slightest provocation?

—Have you recently begun flaring out easily or sulking?

—Do you suffer unexplained aches and pains?

—Have you tried a positive stance, recreation and rest, without achieving improvement?

100-Page Decision
You answered "yes?" In effect, says Blue Cross, you are an on-the-job retiree.

The quiz is a small part of "Generation in the Middle," a 100-page discussion of the 50-million people between 40 and 65, who should be enjoying life but who often see their erubescences waste to ennui.

"Middle-aged" people are growing in number, one reason being that the boundaries are enlarging. Life has been stretched out in the middle because of improvements in medicine, nutrition and living and working conditions.

Prime Years
These are the prime years, the book states. "This is the time when you are old enough to know, young enough to do, and capable enough to assume the duties inherent in authority."

That's one way of looking at it. Another point of view is that these are the days when the generation in the middle does little but worry and pay for the generation beyond and the one behind.

Adolescents and the under-30 generation are constantly in the limelight if not in jail because of protests and demonstrations. And the senior citizen is the subject of numerous studies and federal programs.

Group Not Understood
And the middle generation? Not really forgotten, but perhaps not well enough understood when you consider that it earns more than half the nation's income, holds more than 40 per cent of the stock in corporations, supplies more than 40 per cent of the female labor force.

"It's strange, but despite all their power, the middle-aged know little about themselves," says one contributor to the book. "They have poured billions of dollars into research on geriatrics and juvenile delinquency, into orphanages and re-

Opening lead—king of hearts.

The co-called brilliant plays you hear or read about are usually simple in concept and require no more than a flick of the wrist for their achievement.

For example, consider this hand played by John C. Stabilein of Seattle, Wash. He won the heart lead in dummy and returned a trump. When East produced the queen, Stabilein played the nine on it!

This extraordinary play led to twelve easy tricks. East returned a club, won by the ace, and declarer ruffed a heart, came back to his hand with a trump, and ruffed his last heart.

Declarer then crossed to his hand with a diamond, drew trumps, and ran dummy's diamonds on which he discarded two clubs to make exactly six spades.

But let's suppose that Stabilein had made the routine play of winning East's queen of spades with the ace. What could he have done next? If he ruffed his hearts in dummy, West would still have a trump trick coming and would also take a club trick eventually to put the contract down one.

Or if, alternatively, declarer drew three rounds of trumps right away, it would become impossible for him to discard two club losers on dummy's diamonds and also ruff two hearts in dummy. To make the slam, South had to do just what he did.

It is not really difficult to find a sound basis for ducking the queen. Assuming the queen is a singleton, which seems reasonable, West becomes marked with a natural trump trick. Therefore, why not lose the trump at once and assure the slam, rather than win the trump at once and lose the slam?

The answer is obvious, but what's supposed to click inside of a player's head to make him ask the question in the first place?

Ann Landers

Children Planning 'Graduation' Assault

Dear Ann Landers: I started to write this letter in June but decided to hold off and see if I felt the same way after a few weeks of cogitation. Well, I do, so here's my letter.

Why do kids expect their parents to give them graduation presents? Where did the idea come from? Our eighth grade "graduate" requested her own telephone. Our high school boy served notice (as a sophomore) that he expected a car upon graduation. Our college girl let us know she expected a trip to Europe the day after she received her diploma.

I am ashamed to confess we came through on all three counts. It cost over $5,000—and we are not rich.

What do the poor people do? How and why did parents become so trapped? It would make more sense if the kids gave their parents gifts for getting them through. Please reply.—The Victims

Dear Victims: Poor people don't give 8th graders telephones, high school seniors cars—nor do they send their college graduates to Europe. In fact, some rich people don't do these things.

Obviously you feel blackmailed. Your kids have probably been setting you up for the clobber ever since they were old enough to talk. It's nice when parents can give their children extras—provided the parents can afford them and the kids appreciate it. In your case, I suspect some important ingredients are missing.

Dear Ann Landers: You printed a letter a while back from a reader who was driven out of her mind by computer billing. After countless phone calls and letters, she received a telegram saying that if she didn't pay her bill at once her credit rating would be permanently jeopardized.

I sympathized with the woman because I had a similar experience when I tried to cancel a credit card. It had such a devastating effect on me that my ulcers came back.

Please inform the public as to the best course of action should they become caught in the wheels of "progress" and driven nuts as I was. (P.S. Finally my husband hired a lawyer.)—Scaradele Screem Heard Round The World

Dear Screem: One who finds himself involved in a battle with a computer should do the following: If, after a phone call and a letter to the company, you get no satisfaction, accept the fact that the electronic monster has no eyes or ears and you might as well talk to Mount Rushmore. Write to your senators and to your congressman. Send copies of your correspondence to the computer. Write also to President Nixon's Committee On Consumer Interests, Washington, D. C. And keep your cool your cool your cool your cool.

Dear Ann Landers: What's happening to people anyway? Have they always been so rude and inconsiderate? Here's a sample of what I'm talking about.

The telephone woke me up at midnight. I said, "Hello." The party on the other end asked, "Who is this?"

I replied, "Who are you calling?"

The party yelled, "Get off the line you . . ."

Bang went the receiver, right down on my ear.

Why should the party be mad at ME? I was the one who was awakened out of a sound sleep. Why would a person behave that way?—Baffled In Buffalo

Dear Baffled: The drunk probably lost his dime.

Bottle Ban

When students of Bay de Noc Community College hiked from Escanaba to Gladstone a few weeks ago to dramatize their concern over the environment, a large part of the trash they picked from the sides of the highway took the form of discarded beer and soft drink cans and bottles. The same held true in other cleanups by youngsters along the Escanaba River and county roads in the area.

And just about every year there is a bill introduced in the Michigan Legislature which would ban disposable cans and bottles in Michigan. The bill gets some support, but it generally dies a quiet death in committee.

The mail the other day brought word, however, that at least one community has taken action to ban the sale of all non-returnable soft drink and beer containers. The City Council of Bowie, a suburban community of 40,000 in the Washington area, passed an ordinance which provides a penalty of $100 per day against any store selling beverages in throw-away containers after the effective date of the ordinance, April 1, 1971. Bowie Mayor Leo Green said the effective day was delayed in order to give the Maryland Legislature a chance to pass a statewide ban early next year.

Whether or not the City of Bowie, Md., will stand against the nation if other councils and state legislatures fail to pass comparable laws or whether the action by the Bowie Council heralds the beginning of a nation-wide movement remains to be seen. But there certainly are strong points in support of the action.

Congressman Joseph P. Viorito (D-Pa.) praised the action of the Bowie Council and said he is studying the possibility of Congressional action. T. J. Hamilton, director of the Crusade for a Cleaner Environment, said:

"By using returnable bottles and cans for such beverages as soft drinks and beer, Americans could have their cake and eat it, too. This is one area in which the public could carry on a positive 'do-it-yourself' ecology campaign which would clear up one phase of pollution, leave landscapes and cities more beautiful and save both in the cost of beverages and in the cost of litter pickup and waste disposal. By using more returnable, money-back containers for soft drinks and beer, consumers and taxpayers could save money on out-of-pocket cost of such drinks, as well as the cost of trash collection disposal."

Hamilton estimated Americans might spend $705 million per year if they purchased all soft drinks in returnable, money-back containers. Another $800 million could be saved by beer buyers, he said.

That money, of course, would be scattered to every man, woman and child in the country and for all practical purposes impossible to use for any national environmental crusade. But the savings to government in cleaning up the litter along highways and in parks — and the Bay de Noc students will testify about the volume — to say nothing of preserving the environment would be well worth the consumer inconvenience.

'Persons Of Interest'

Are you one of those "persons of interest"? If so, the federal government might have a secret file on you, even though you have no criminal record, have served your country with honor and have paid your taxes. Various agencies are amassing and storing in computers information on hundreds of thousands of Americans classified as "persons of interest" who may have done nothing more than embarrass a government official.

One of the leading opponents of these files on "persons of interest" is Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., who is chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights. He warns that the computerized files represent "a mass surveillance system unprecedented in American history."

It is ridiculous, but "persons of interest" to the Secret Service include "malcontents." Who isn't malcontent around April 15? The Department of Health, Education and Welfare keeps records on some 300,000 school-age children of migrants. HEW divulges information to local school districts on migrant children such as their grades and "negative attitudes" in other schools. What boy, at one time or another, doesn't have a "negative attitude" toward school? What if he doesn't like school, so what?

A chief objection to this obsession for collecting information on law-abiding citizens is that it is an invasion of privacy, and an infringement of the rights of free speech and of peaceable assembly, protected by the Fifth Amendment. A person thinking about going to hear a speech opposing fluoridation, for example, which the Department of Health, Education and Welfare supports, might hesitate if he thought the federal government was going to spy on him and keep his attendance on file even though he will might oppose the ideas espoused at the meeting. Along with the right to speak goes the right to listen.

Senator Ervin dryly notes that he frequently "embarrasses" government officials and also is a malcontent, adding that he therefore is qualified for the files. His comment would be funny if the subject weren't so serious.

Government's task in a free society is to make it safe for people to express, without fear, what they think. Federal snooping suppresses that right.

Switching Jobs Could Solve Some Problems

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The worker is 45 but he feels 55. He is tired, bored, irritable. He feels the boss is down on him and that the company has been unfair. He feels justified in taking a day off every now and then.

"Middle-aged" people are growing in number, one reason being that the boundaries are enlarging. Life has been stretched out in the middle because of improvements in medicine, nutrition and living and working conditions.

Prime Years

These are the prime years, the book states. "This is the time when you are old enough to know, young enough to do, and capable enough to assume the duties inherent in authority."

That's one way of looking at it. Another point of view is that these are the days when the generation in the middle does little but worry and pay for the generation beyond and the one behind.

Adolescents and the under-30 generation are constantly in the limelight if not in jail because of protests and demonstrations. And the senior citizen is the subject of numerous studies and federal programs.

And the middle generation? Not really forgotten, but perhaps not well enough understood when you consider that it earns more than half the nation's income, holds more than 40 per cent of the stock in corporations, supplies more than 40 per cent of the female labor force.

"It's strange, but despite all their power, the middle-aged know little about themselves," says one contributor to the book. "They have poured billions of dollars into research on geriatrics and juvenile delinquency, into orphanages and returement homes, but they have never taken time to investigate themselves."

Books Answers Problems

This book, in part, is Blue Cross's answer to some of the problems that develop during middle years. That bored worker referred to earlier is only one of many cases discussed. And his choice really isn't limited to quitting.

The purpose in quitting is to renew one's self, the book indicates, but this may be achieved also by developing new skills, perhaps at night school. Great changes are occurring in business and that means jobs for the middle-aged—if their skills are modern.

The book is free from any Blue Cross office.

The co-called brilliant plays you hear or read about are usually simple in concept and require no more than a flick of the wrist for their achievement.

For example, consider this hand played by John C. Stablein of Seattle, Wash. He won the heart lead in dummy and returned a trump. When East produced the queen, Stablein played the nine on it!

This extraordinary play led to twelve easy tricks. East returned a club, won by the ace, and declarer ruffed a heart, came back to his hand with a trump, and ruffed his last heart.

Declarer then crossed to his hand with a diamond, drew trumps, and ran dummy's diamonds on which he discarded two clubs to make exactly six spades.

But let's suppose that Stablein had made the routine play of winning East's queen of spades with the ace. What could he have done next? If he ruffed his hearts in dummy, West would still have a trump trick coming and would also take a club trick eventually to put the contract down one.

Or, if, alternatively, declarer drew three rounds of trumps right away, it would become impossible for him to discard two club losers on dummy's diamonds and also ruff two hearts in dummy. To make the slam, South had to do just what he did.

It is not really difficult to find a sound basis for ducking the queen. Assuming the queen is a singleton, which seems reasonable, West becomes marked with a natural trump trick. Therefore, why not lose the trump at once and assure the slam, rather than win the trump at once and lose the slam?

The answer is obvious, but what's supposed to click inside of a player's head to make him ask the question in the first place?

Ann Landers

Children Planning 'Graduation' Assault

Dear Ann Landers: I started to write this letter in June but decided to hold off and see if I felt the same way after a few weeks of cogitation. Well, I do, so here's my letter.

Why do kids expect their parents to give them graduation presents? Where did the idea come from? Our eighth grade "graduate" requested her own telephone. Our high school boy served notice (as a sophomore) that he expected a car upon graduation. Our college girl let us know she expected a trip to Europe the day after she received her diploma.

I am ashamed to confess we came through on all three counts. It cost over $5,000—and we are not rich.

What do the poor people do? How and why did parents become so trapped? It would make more sense if the kids gave their parents gifts for getting them through. Please reply.—The Victims

Dear Victims: Poor people don't give 8th graders telephones, high school seniors cars—nor do they send their college graduates to Europe. In fact, some rich people don't do these things.

Obviously you feel blackmailed. Your kids have probably been setting you up for the clobber ever since they were old enough to talk. It's nice when parents can give their children extras—provided the parents can afford them and the kids appreciate it. In your case, I suspect some important ingredients are missing.

Dear Ann Landers: You printed a letter a while back from a reader who was driven out of her mind by computer billing. After countless phone calls and letters, she received a telegram saying that if she didn't pay her bill at once her credit rating would be permanently jeopardized.

I sympathized with the woman because I had a similar experience when I tried to cancel a credit card. It had such a devastating effect on me that my ulcers came back.

Please inform the public as to the best course of action should they become caught in the wheels of "progress" and driven nuts as I was. (P. S. Finally my husband hired a lawyer.) —Scarsdale Screamer Heard Round The World

Dear Screamer: One who finds himself involved in a battle with a computer should do the following: If, after a phone call and a letter to the company, you get no satisfaction, accept the fact that the electronic monster has no eyes or ears and you might as well talk to Mount Rushmore. Write to your senators and to your congressman. Send copies of your correspondence to the computer. Write also to President Nixon's Committee On Consumer Interests, Washington, D. C. And keep your cool your cool your cool your cool.

Dear Ann Landers: What's happening to people anyway? Have they always been so rude and inconsiderate? Here's a sample of what I'm talking about.

The telephone woke me up at midnight. I said, "Hello." The party on the other end asked, "Who is this?"

I replied, "Who are you calling?"

The party yelled, "Get off the line you . . ."

Bang went the receiver, right down on my ear.

Why should the party be mad at ME? I was the one who was awakened out of a sound sleep. Why would a person behave that way?—Baffled In Buffalo

Dear Baffled: The drunk probably lost his dime.

Tough Anti-Pollution Law Signed In Lansing

By LARRY KURTZ
LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken signs a tough new antipollution law today, half of a two-bill package he says is vital to the protection of Michigan's environment.

Milliken makes it clear he considers passage of the other bill a top-priority task for the Legislature when it reconvenes after the Aug. 4 primary election.

The bill set by his office for an afternoon signing ceremony today is a much-debated measure allowing citizens and groups to take government and industry to court, or vice versa. Anyone is fair game for anyone else, as long as the goal is protection of the public trust in the air, water, or other natural resources.

The other bill is a three-pronged thrust aimed at companies which contaminate streams. It would require industries to file monthly reports on the volume and content of their wastes and pay a fee for the state's work as watchdog. It also would make state-industry agreements enforceable in court, bypassing legal foot-dragging.

The measure, proposed by Milliken after the mercury mess came to light this spring, sailed through the House 78-0 early in May. The Senate, however, did not get around to it before the election recess. Amendments in that chamber are possible.

As passed by the House, the bill makes it unlawful to discharge into waters of the state "any substance which is or may become injurious to the public health, safety or welfare."

Benefits Noted

Recreational and land values come under protection of the bill. So do fish and wildlife.

The monthly reports would be required of every firm discharging wastewater into a stream or sewer system. Companies would have to list all products manufactured and the materials used in making them; all byproducts and waste products; and the amount of wastewater discharged, including water used for processing and cooling.

The bill promises to guard the confidentiality of information relating to manufacturing processes.

Meetings Open To All

It provides that the State Water Resources Commission may draw up a proposed agreement or order whenever it feels a company is violating the law or failing to control its discharges.

Mayor Gets Tip In City 'Shootout'

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — The mayor stepped into the street and confronted the gun slinger, a tough-looking hombre in a Mexican cowboy outfit.

The mayor suddenly drew his six shooter and pulled the trigger once, twice. . . Nothing happened. The gun slinger stood still and confident.

"Pull the hammer all the way back, your honor," cried a voice from the crowd.

The mayor turned and smiled in gratitude. "Thank you," he said.

Then he pulled the hammer back and got off two shots. The gun slinger fell to the street.

It happened Friday in Elmira when Mayor Edward T. Lagonigro fought a "gun duel" with blanks against a gun expert named "Choyo" to launch the city's "Frontier Days" store promotion.

Sen. Hart Hopes To Plug Gaps In Pesticide Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart plans to introduce reform legislation today to plug troublesome holes in the federal regulation of pesticides.

Hart, chairman of a Senate Commerce environmental subcommittee which has held hearings on pesticide control, said in a statement over the weekend that several significant weaknesses exist in present law.

The Michigan Democrat said pesticides banned from interstate commerce shipment as an imminent hazard still can be legally sold. In his pesticide reform proposal, Hart would make sales of banned or suspended pesticides a criminal offense.

Hart said that existing regulations permit pesticides which have been banned for certain uses to be recalled from the dealers, relabeled for approved use and put back on the store shelves for sale. Consumers are free to buy the relabeled stock for prohibited use, he said. To stop the relabeling shuffle, Hart would impose criminal penalties for the misuse of a pesticide.

'Keeping Headaches' Rated Money Saver

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans spend $400 million annually for headache cures. Maybe the best way to cut down the cost is to quit trying to pass on to others the headache someone else gives to us.

Here are some statistics that the Women's Liberation Movement might ponder:

Just by clicking the switches in her home, the average American housewife controls about 65 horsepower. If you figure it takes 22 men to put out the equal of one horse's energy, that means she has 1,430 men at her beck and call at any time. If that doesn't satisfy a woman, what really could?

Why you should wear a car seat belt: Studies show that if you don't, you are 100 per cent more likely to suffer severe injury or death. You are also 40 per cent more likely to be a victim of a minor injury.

Being America's First Lady probably isn't as much fun today as it was during Dolley Madison's White House reign early in the 19th century. A young and merry widow when she married James Madison, she used snuff, wore jeweled turbans, and liked to throw dinner parties and play cards for money. She was still so popular in 1844, some 27 years after Madison's term as president ended, that the House of Representatives gallantly and unanimously paid her the unprecedented tribute of voting her a seat in the House.

Quotable notables: "If education is for anything it is that we learn to choose the good." —Edward Dean Martin.

Valuable: Collectors are avidly seeking old bottles now as well as old coins. These colorful glass souvenirs of America's past have fetched up to $950 at auctions, the National Geographic Society says. A whisky flask put out in 1840 and shaped like a log cabin is worth $150 or more today. It carried the product of Philadelphia distiller E. G. Booz, so popular it became a slang term for hard liquor.

Odd claims to fame: Lester B. Dill, owner of the Meramec Caverns in Missouri, has visited 100,000 caves all over the world. He says he has never met a cave he didn't like.

Worth remembering: "You don't need you bifocals when you are looking for trouble." —Arnold H. Glasow.

Quickies: The Northern Lights are caused by sun spots. A survey of teen-agers by Pepsi-Cola found that most agreed 23 is the best age at which to marry. The reason we're so crowded is that 37 per cent of the people live on five per cent of the earth's surface. If you don't put down 14 pounds of watermelon this summer, you're not getting your fair share.

It was Anne Morrow Lindbergh who observed: "The most exhausting thing in life is being insincere."

"Pull the hammer all the way back, your honor," cried a voice from the crowd.

It happened Friday in Elmira when Mayor Edward T. Lagonegro fought a "gun duel" with blanks against a gun expert named "Choyra" to launch the city's "Frontier Days" store promotion.

This would be followed by a hearing 4-8 weeks after the determination of violation. Any interested person could attend the hearing and submit evidence.

A company could agree to the stipulations deemed necessary by the commission to protect the water, or it could appeal to circuit court within 15 days of the commission's final decision.

Under present law, firms which do not live up to voluntary agreements can use the legal process to delay matters — such as winning new hearings on the whole case and going over once-ordered ground.

The proposed law is designed to speed up the enforcement process.

It says any violation of its provisions shall be evidence of a public nuisance which can be taken to court by the attorney general.

Must Spell Out Needs
 Firms just starting up or proposing to change their operations would have to spell out their water needs and discharge details. The commission would decide within 60 days on restrictions.

Violators of the act—including those convicted of failing to comply with voluntary agreements—would be guilty of a misdemeanor and could be fined heavily. The $500 minimum penalty could, at the discretion of the court, be ballooned to "not less than $500 per day for any number of days during which such violation occurred."

The attorney general also could file suit "to recover the full value of the injuries done to the natural resources of the state."

Surveillance Fee
 The surveillance fee, which would not be paid by municipalities, would range from a base of $50 to as high as $9,000. The top fee would be charged only to those plants with very complex waste situations.

Each discharger would be told by Feb. 1 each year of the amount due for monitoring waste. Payment would be made by March 1.

The bill provides that in any year, the total surveillance fees shall not exceed the total money appropriated to the commission and other state agencies for monitoring work. An early estimate by a Milliken aide placed the surveillance-fee charges in the area of $1 million.

Big Talking Point
 Milliken, in recent travels, has made the antipollution package a big talking point.

"If this is passed," he told an audience in Kalamazoo, "we will have without question the finest antipollution program of any state."

At the recently concluded Midwest Governors Conference in Columbus, Ohio, Milliken summed up his antipollution attitude by saying:

"What's bad for the air, the water, the land is bad for people—whether it's good for business or not. We cannot have prosperity at the expense of posterity."

Fuel Being Added To Defense Fund Cut Arguments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's bid to halt the arms race and a U.S. admiral's warning of growing Soviet naval power have fueled the heated Senate debate over the nation's defense budget.

The issue presently stems from the $19.2 military hardware bill that critics claim could be cut $5 billion without damaging national security.

Senate forces defending the $19.2 procurement bill for new ships, planes, tanks, missiles and the controversial Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system also may have been handed a telling argument by the commander in chief of the Soviet navy.

Debate resumed today in the Senate, only a few hours after it was disclosed the United States had asked the Soviet Union to join in a mutual limit on land and sea-based strategic nuclear missiles. The proposal would limit ARMs to approximately the same number now deployed around Moscow by the Soviet Union.

Castro Reports Party Trouble

MIAMI (AP) — Fidel Castro says Cuba is beset by economic trouble and needs better leadership from its Communist party.

Addressing his island country Sunday night on the 17th anniversary of his revolution, Castro called its problems "the responsibility of all of us, and mine in particular."

He said Cuba could change its leadership if it wanted to—"right now, at the moment it wishes"—but apparently saw no likelihood that this would come to pass.

"We have no fear in admitting our responsibility and stating our problems before the people in view of the confidence that we have," the prime minister declared.

Castro spoke at the end of a 12-month sugar harvest which yielded 8 1/2 million tons—a record, but still far short of the goal of 10 million tons.

The prime minister admitted that while manpower was mobilized to harvest cane, there was a lag in production of other items, such as meat, milk, bread, vegetables, tobacco and clothing.

He said Cuba's balance of trade is worsening, especially with the Soviet Union.

"The enemy says we have problems," Castro declared. "In reality, they are right. That there is discontent. And they are right. That there are irritations. And our enemies are right."

Student Loans Escape Effect Of Tight Money

LANSING (AP) — The so-called tight money situation apparently has not hurt student loans guaranteed by the state, reports the State Department of Public Instruction.

The department said 12,340 loans totaling more than $10.72 million were issued during the past fiscal year. This was an increase of better than 1,000 loans and more than $1.2 million above the previous fiscal year.

Since the loan program was started in 1962, the state has guaranteed more than $35.7 million in loans to students attending eligible educational institutions.

There have been 44,182 loans guaranteed since the program was started. Of these, $186 have been paid in full.

Loans for undergraduate study are available up to a maximum of $1,500.

Stock Prices Continue Dip

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices meandered downward in slow trading today.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was behind 1.72 at 728.50, the low thus far for the session. The high occurred near the session's start when the blue-chip indicator was ahead 0.13.

Analysts said the sluggish volume reflected investor anxiety over second-quarter earnings and the state of the economy in general.

Despite an early encouraging trend in second-quarter earnings reports, the pattern now appears to be lower. A preliminary survey, for example, indicates that corporate profits declined by 5 1/2 percent in the second quarter, equaling the first-quarter decline.

Signs of less encouraging earnings reports were blamed in part by analysts for stalling of the market's rally last week, when the Dow industrial average lost 4.86 points.

Winning issues on the New York Stock Exchange led losers by a slender margin. The gainers had led decliners by nearly 2 to 1 early in the session.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .9 at 243.1. Industrials were off 1.2, rails off .3 and utilities off .6.

Vote On Secrecy Comes Under Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House may decide today whether to junk its ancient rule permitting members to vote secretly on many major issues.

The test will come on an amendment to abolish the teller vote, the practice of counting members walking between two colleagues. No names are recorded.

A formidable coalition of Republicans and Democrats support the amendment to a 140-page congressional reorganization bill which the House has been considering off and on for two weeks.

The Teller vote is used during consideration of amendments when the House sits as a committee.

Roll-call votes are not allowed at such times unless an amendment is approved. An amendment defeated normally cannot be voted on by later roll-call.

Reaching Age 30 Not Bad: Ringo

LONDON (AP) — Ringo Starr has been 30 for 20 days, and he says it isn't so bad after all.

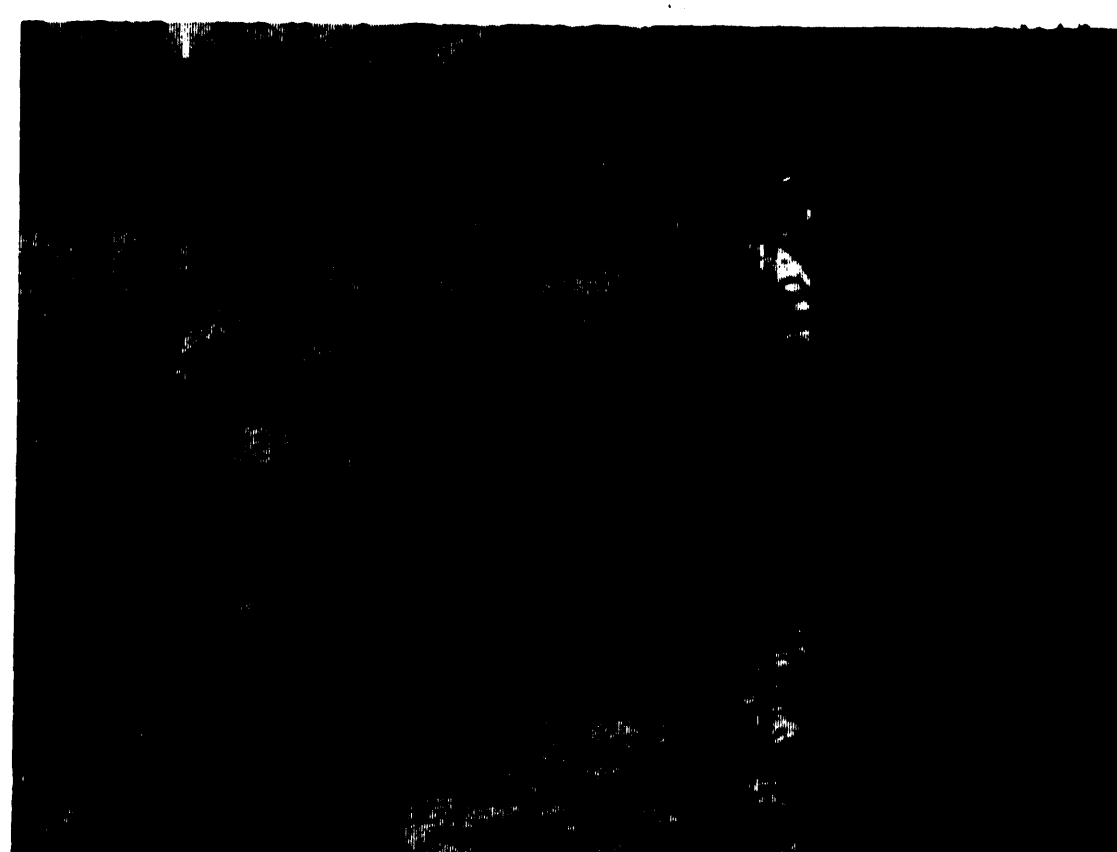

"When I was 19, I thought 30 would be the end of the world," the Beatles drummer told an interviewer from the Daily Express. "But it's nothing. It's okay."

Ringo was 30 on July 7. The Beatles are okay, too, Ringo said, even though the foursome has not performed in public for more than two years. They continue to make hit records.

"What we are doing at the moment is all our own things and getting them out of the way. Then we'll see what we shall do together. I should think around November we should all know where we are."

Bar Maid, Marine Held In Death Of One-Year-Old Boy

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A bar maid and her Marine sergeant boyfriend were jailed for investigation of murder after a coroner reported the woman's one-year-old son died of alcoholism, police say.

Myron L. Reynolds died July 10 of peritonitis and pleuritis caused by alcoholism, said coroner's investigator Jack Cale. Cale said the baby apparently had consumed alcoholic beverages regularly.

Carmelita Louise Reynolds, 21, and S. Sgt. Gary Wayne Rapp, 21, stationed at Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, were booked Friday, authorities said.

Education Board Corrects Error

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education reports it has corrected an inadvertent error which would have cost school districts state aid funds by changing the way in which adult education pupils are counted.

Numerous local school officials spotted the error and brought it to the attention of the Department of Education.

The change provides for a count system which won't reduce state funds for adult education to any school district.

"We're often accused of ignoring or failing to hear local school people when they have a problem," said Michael Deeb of Detroit, board secretary.

"This is one case which clearly illustrates that when there is a real problem that is brought to our attention, we can and do act as swiftly as possible to correct it."

2 Ohioans Injured In Plane Accident

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio men were injured Sunday when their single-engine plane, taking part in a search for a missing Texas plane, crashed on a residential street in suburban Brecksville.

The pilot, Donald E. Munzer, Charles Hart of Cenia, were taken to Parma Community Hospital. Hart was treated and reported in good condition before being released. Munzer was reported in fair condition in Wilmington, Ohio. Both suffered head and facial injuries.

Brecksville police said the pair wandered off course and failed to find another spot to land before running out of fuel and landing on Westview Drive.

Police said the Cessna 140 plane stopped 5 1/2 feet from the front window of a home at 6848 Westview Drive.

Bids Accepted

LANSING (AP) — The Parks Division of the Department of Natural Resources will accept bids through Aug. 3 for the horseback riding concession at Pontiac Lake Recreation Area. The department reports the concession grossed nearly $7,000 last year.

More people got more news from newspapers than all other sources combined.

West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko are trying to conclude an agreement in which West Germany and the Soviet Union renounce the use of force against each other and West Germany accepts the postwar loss of German territory to Poland and the Soviet Union. But in an attempt to appease the political opposition at home, Scheel brought along amendments he wants to attach to the treaty emphasizing Bonn's aims of German reunification and improved access to West Berlin.

Scheel arrived Sunday from Bonn and called on Gromyko at his office this morning. A West German source said Scheel planned to present his amendments at this first meeting but that Gromyko was not expected to respond until a later session.

The meeting lasted just over an hour. Scheel told newsmen the meeting had been "good" and its atmosphere "cooperative, very cooperative."

He and Gromyko scheduled another meeting in the afternoon.

Divers Probing Plane Wreckage In Downstate Lake

ADRIAN (AP) — A twin-engine plane crashed in Devil's Lake in Lenawee County today, flipped over and sank.

Sheriff's deputies said witnesses told them the plane made one pass over the lake and then approached the water at a low altitude. Its engines quit before it hit the water, they said.

Authorities said they did not know how many persons were aboard the craft, and divers were sent down to probe the wreckage.

Papers found at the scene indicated that one of the occupants was James C. Young, 24, of Detroit, officers said.

It was believed the plane had flown from Detroit, Cleveland, Ill., and back to Detroit. Other papers showed the plane's owner is from Lester, Pa.

Devil's Lake is northwest of Adrian and southeast of Jackson in southern Lower Michigan.

Man In Trouble Following KKK 'Cross-Burning'

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — One man was arrested Sunday when Kent County sheriff's deputies investigated a Ku Klux Klan cross-burning ceremony in a wheat field near Grand Rapids.

Deputy Robert Grummed said he fired a warning shot when the man tried to run him down with a car. Taken into custody for investigation of felonious assault and resisting arrest was Kenneth Weir of Muskegon.

Officers went to the scene after receiving a complaint of a White Panther rally reportedly being held in the wheat field.

They found instead that it was a KKK rally, and two uniformed men with loaded M-1 rifles were guarding the cross-burning ceremony.

They said the gathering was visible from the nearby U. S. 131 freeway, and that some cars had stopped to watch.

A KKK spokesman—Grand Dragon Robert Miles—said the ceremony was one of two such events held every month in various locations around the state.

He said about 200 people were at the Grand Rapids gathering. Deputies estimated the number at between 75 and 80.

Wounded Soldier Ends Long Hike

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Army S. Sgt. Jack Nelson says he wanted to do something for U.S. troops in Vietnam, so while recuperating from broken elbow suffered in a helicopter crash he walked the length of Death Valley.

Nelson, who completed his five-day, 130-mile trek Saturday, says he hasn't ruled out another stroll across the nation's hottest desert.

"It's so hard to describe the grandeur of it all, the sunsets, the mountain ranges, the colors—all so unimaginably beautiful," he said.

During Nelson's walk the daytime temperature soared past 120 degrees and the ground temperature reached 170. Nelson, of Cleveland, Ohio, started the trek during daylight hours but switched to nighttime walking after two days.

A Vietnam veteran, Nelson carried an American flag sewn to his back pack.

Lake Shipping Shows Increase

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Bulk commodity shipping on the Great Lakes through July 1 of this year was the heaviest since 1967 and the third best in 10 years, the Lake Carriers' Association says.

Shipments totaled 54,465,375 net tons.

Iron ore shipments in June totaled 10,124,750 gross tons, highest for the month since 1965. Ore tonnage for the season was 25,347,024 gross tons, more than two million tons more than last year at the same time.

Coal shipments for June were 5,947,820 net tons, highest since 1967, and the year's total of 18,785,086 net tons was 1.5 million tons higher than last year but about 100,000 tons less than in 1968.

Grain shipments totaled 2,712,837 net tons in June, about one million tons higher than last June and the second highest total ever recorded in the month. Total grain shipments for the year of 7,291,873 net tons were over two million tons higher than last year and third highest on record.

Modernization Of S. Korean Army First Aim

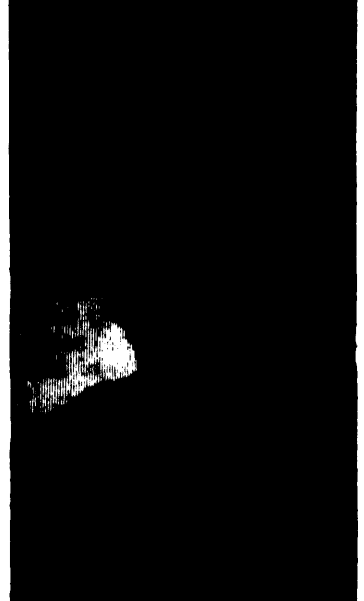

SEOUL (AP) — The United States has agreed that the modernization of South Korea's armed forces will precede any withdrawal of American troops, Defense Minister Jung Nae-huk said today in a report on his meetings in Honolulu last week with Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard.

Jung told the National Assembly's foreign affairs and defense committees that Packard and his aides agreed to postpone talks on the U.S. troop cutback until the two governments agree on plans for the modernization of Korean forces.

Jung said Korean and American military leaders would meet in Seoul this week to discuss detailed programs to modernize South Korea's 600,000-man forces.

Jung denied reports that the United States intends to put into effect its plan to withdraw 20,000 of its 62,000-man force stationed in Korea with or without Korea's consent.

The United States also agreed at Honolulu to provide the South Korean Air Force with a squadron of 52 reconnaissance planes shortly, he said.

Court Of Inquiry Asks More Wages For Dock Workers

LONDON (AP) — A court of inquiry recommended today higher guaranteed weekly wages and more pay for overtime, holidays and the operation of "modernization" to settle a strike by 47,000 British longshoremen.

It was less than the strikers had demanded, but it opened possibilities for an end to the 13-day dock strike.

The dock employers promptly pledged to accept the recommendations in full. The strike leaders called a national conference for Wednesday to decide whether to accept. A union official called the recommendations "a significant advance."

The strike was called in support of the men's demand for raises that would almost double their basic wage.

Couple Taking Full Advantage Of Military Aid

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Nathan H. Noe and his wife Kathleen said "I do" again and became privates in the Marine Corps.

"After a lot of thought, we decided that it was either enlist or go to school," Nathan said.

By enlisting, added Nathan, 21, "we can go to school and get paid for it. We also can take advantage of the GI bill."

Because of his high qualification test score, Nathan will receive training in marine aviation after finishing basic training at Parris Island, S.C.

Kathleen, 18, will be assigned a duty station after her recruit training at Parris Island.

Home for the couple is Tremont in Hartsville County.

Fuel Being Added To Defense Fund Cut Arguments

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's bid to halt the arms race and a U.S. admiral's warning of growing Soviet naval power have refueled the heated Senate debate over the nation's defense budget.

The issue presently stems from the $19.2 military hardware bill that critics claim could be cut $5 billion without damaging national security.

Senate forces defending the $19.2 procurement bill for new ships, planes, tanks, missiles, and the controversial Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system also may have been handed a telling argument by the commander in chief of the Soviet navy.

Debate resumed today in the Senate, only a few hours after it was disclosed the United States had asked the Soviet Union to join in a mutual limit on land and sea-based strategic nuclear missiles. The proposal would limit ABMs to approximately the same number now deployed around Moscow by the Soviet Union.

Divers Probing Plane Wreckage In Downstate Lake

ADRIAN (AP)—A twin-engine plane crashed in Devil's Lake in Lenawee County today, flipped over and sank.

Sheriff's deputies said witnesses told them the plane made one pass over the lake and then approached the water at a low altitude. Its engines quit before it hit the water, they said.

Authorities said they did not know how many persons were aboard the craft, and divers were sent down to probe the wreckage.

Papers found at the scene indicated that one of the occupants was James C. Young, 24, of Detroit, officers said.

It was believed the plane had flown from Detroit, Cleveland, Ill., and back to Detroit. Other papers showed the plane's owner is from Lester, Pa.

Devil's Lake is northwest of Adrian and southeast of Jackson in southern Lower Michigan.

Explorer Claims Papyrus Vessel Trip No Challenge

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Explorer Thor Heyerdahl says his Atlantic crossing in a papyrus boat was not intended as a challenge to the belief that Christopher Columbus discovered America.

"Everybody knows that Christopher Columbus discovered America, but it is evident that he discovered a land inhabited by persons enjoying a certain degree of civilization," Heyerdahl said Sunday.

He said the papyrus boat crossing was to demonstrate that Mediterranean peoples could have brought their civilization to American coasts by voyaging across the Atlantic in fragile craft then in use.

Lake Shipping Shows Increase

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Bulk commodity shipping on the Great Lakes through July 1 of this year was the heaviest since 1967 and the third best in 10 years, the Lake Carriers' Association says.

Shipments totaled 54,465,375 net tons.

Iron ore shipments in June totaled 10,124,750 gross tons, highest for the month since 1965. One tonnage for the season was 25,347,024 gross tons, more than two million tons more than last year at the same time.

Coal shipments for June were 5,947,829 net tons, highest since 1967, and the year's total of 18,785,035 net tons was 1.5 million tons higher than last year but about 100,000 tons less than in 1968.

Grain shipments totaled 2,712,837 net tons in June, about one million tons higher than last June and the second highest total ever recorded in the month. Total grain shipments for the year of 7,291,673 net tons were over two million tons higher than last year and third highest on record.

Modernization Of S. Korean Army First Aim

SEOUL (AP) — The United States has agreed that the modernization of South Korea's armed forces will precede any withdrawal of American troops, Defense Minister Jung Nae-hiuk said today in a report on his meetings in Honolulu last week with Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard.

Jung told the National Assembly's foreign affairs and defense committees that Packard and his aides agreed to postpone talks on the U.S. troop cutback until the two governments agree on plans for the modernization of Korean forces.

Jung said Korean and American military leaders would meet in Seoul this week to discuss detailed programs to modernize South Korea's 600,000-man forces.

Jung denied reports that the United States intends to put into effect its plan to withdraw 20,000 of its 62,000-man force stationed in Korea with or without Korea's consent.

The United States also agreed at Honolulu to provide the South Korean Air Force with a squadron of S2 reconnaissance planes shortly, he said.

Court Of Inquiry Asks More Wages For Dock Workers

LONDON (AP) — A court of inquiry recommended today higher guaranteed weekly wages and more pay for overtime, holidays and the operation of "modernization" to settle a strike by 47,000 British longshoremen.

It was less than the strikers had demanded, but it opened possibilities for an end to the 13-day dock strike.

The dock employers promptly pledged to accept the recommendations in full. The strike leaders called a national conference for Wednesday to decide whether to accept. A union official called the recommendations "a significant advance."

The strike was called in support of the men's demand for raises that would almost double their basic wage.

Departure Near; Michigan Marine Wounds Himself

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP)—A marine due to depart soon for overseas duty was in good condition at U. S. Naval Hospital after accidentally shooting himself in the knee, a military spokesman said.

Pfc. Louis A. Stevens, 18, of Muskegon, Mich., whose battalion is slated to be shipped overseas in the near future, told officials his military rifle fell to the floor and fired Saturday night while he was in the men's room.

His unit was taking night rifle training and Stevens was required to have his rifle with him, the spokesman said.

Stevens' departure may be delayed or postponed, the spokesman said.

Cans Hold Everything From Clocks To Socks

WASHINGTON—Cans hold a lot these days besides soup and steel bases of the containers.

Shoppers find shelves stocked with canned quail eggs, ladies' stockings, and alarm clocks.

With a twist of an opener, gourmets nibble on hearts of palm, papaya balls, or bread-fruit.

The more adventurous may serve sliced, seasoned whale meat and gravy, diamondback rattlesnake with sauce supreme, or hickory-smoked ringneck pheasant in aspic, the National Geographic Society says.

Ready-to-Wear Cans
Clothing comes in an assortment of cans. Sweaters have been sold in tall tomato juice-sized containers, ties in soup-type tins, and dresses in receptacles that suggest metal to-bacco jars. They never get shopworn.

Of all the tin can's offerings, perhaps the most intriguing is the aerosol container which sprays everything from sand-wich spread to golfball refin-ishing. A flick of the finger conjures up instant bandages, dog deodorant, and an anti-static material to repel dust.

Began As Frise
It all started with a 12,000-franc prize offered by the French government in 1795 to anyone who could find a way to preserve food. At the time, edibles constantly spoiled. Soldiers and sailors, in particular, suffered from dreary and dangerous fare.

Nicolas Appert, a determined French confectioner, started experiments to win the award. For years, he labored patiently in a tiny kitchen behind his shop.

His persistence contributed the fundamental principle of modern canning. Using a primitive pressure cooker technique, Appert preserved fruits and vegetables by filling bottles with food, sealing them with cork stoppers, and cooking the glass containers in boiling water.

Bottled Spring and Summer
"The father of canning," claimed his prize in 1810. A leading French newspaper rhapsodized: "M. Appert has discovered the art of fixing the seasons. With him spring, summer, and autumn exist in Greenfield, Wis. The infant bottles like delicate plants that are protected by the gardener under a dome of glass against the intemperance of the seasons."

The same year that Appert received his reward, an English food processor named Peter Durand varied the Frenchman's method by suggesting tin-coated iron containers. His "tin cannisters" became known as "tins" in England and "cans" in the United States.

Tin still costs cans. It resists the corrosive action of soured contents.

Stuff Chicken An Old-Time Way

One of the best stuffings for roast chicken is one of the simplest: just an old-fashioned combination of bread, butter, onion and seasoning.

But there's a technique to the making, and the following recipe gives you the details.

Do try this stuffing! When your family becomes acquainted with it, it's sure to become a top favorite.

Roast Chicken
With Old-Fashioned Stuffing
% of a 1-pound loaf of thinly sliced firm-type bread (12 slices)
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
6-pound roasting chicken
Extra soft butter

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Arrange bread slices in a single layer on a rack in a large roasting pan or on cake racks or a large cookie sheet. Place in oven, close door and turn off heat; let bread dry in oven 1 hour, turning once midway to facilitate drying.

When ready to stuff chicken, fill a deep bowl with cold water and place a second empty large bowl beside it. Quickly dip 1 slice of the dry bread in the cold water, then hold the slice over the second bowl and crush and crumble the bread into coarse crumbs. Repeat the process with remaining bread slices.

In a 10-inch skillet, over moderately low heat, melt half the butter; add half of the onion; cook gently, stirring several times, until onion is softened and yellowed—about 5 minutes. Add half of the bread and cook, tossing lightly with a long-handle fork, for about 3 minutes. Turn crumb mixture into large bowl. Cook second half of bread in same way with remaining butter and onion and turn into large bowl. Add salt and pepper; toss thoroughly but lightly; do not pack down.

Spoon stuffing into neck cavity of chicken, being careful not to press it in too tightly. Fasten neck skin to back with poultry pin or small skewer. Fill body cavity lightly with stuffing. Close opening with poultry pins; skewer across opening and lace with soft cord; tie legs together with ends of cord. Hook wings back akimbo fashion.

ROAST CHICKEN — It has an old-time bread stuffing but it's roasted in a new-fashioned pan with a non-stick surface and a V-shape rack.

Place chicken breast-side-up on adjustable rack of a shallow teflon-lined roasting pan (15 1/2 x 12 by 1 1/2 inches or 12 1/2 by 9 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches). Rub chicken with soft butter.

Roast in a preheated 325-degree oven 30 to 40 minutes per pound or until leg joints move easily and leg flesh feels soft to the touch—3 to 4 hours. Baste occasionally with drippings in pan. Let chicken stand out of oven 10 to 15 minutes before carving.

Note: Many large roasting chickens are available frozen. Before stuffing, thaw frozen chicken in the refrigerator for about 36 hours or in cool tap water for about 3 hours, changing water often.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Regardless of how neat I would keep my clothes arranged in my closets, I was constantly annoyed by the assortment of hat boxes, shoe boxes, purses, etc., that were visible on the upper shelves when the doors were opened.

So I bought spring-tension rods to fit the width of each closet, placed the rods a few inches above the tops of the doors (on the inside of the closet), and made short drapes that hang from these rods and extend down to the bottom of the shelves—or just above the rod on which I hang my clothes.

I used unbleached muslin and trimmed them with fringe, rickrack or braid (depending on the room in which they were being used).

They would also be very attractive if made of fabric to match drapes, bedspreads, toss pillows, or some accent piece in the room into which the closet opened.

Mrs. D. S.

Dear Heloise: I have my measuring cups hanging on the inside of my cupboard door. Every time I opened the door, one or two of the cups would fall off.

So to stop this, I stretched a rubber band from the first hook to the last across the top of the cuphooks.

Now they never fall when I open the cabinet doors.

Louise Herrmann

Dear Heloise:

I was driving the other day when I noticed a smear on my eye-glasses. Not a thing in my purse to wipe them with either. I pulled over the curb right away and looked in the glove compartment, only to find a piece of nylon net.

Well, I wiped them with it, and it works fine—no lint and no more smears!

Explorers were among the first to try the new provisions. Sir William Edward Parry and his crew dined on canned food during their search for the Northwest Passage in 1819-20. Later processes preserved supplies almost indefinitely.

Cans belonging to the Scott and Shackleton Antarctic expeditions (1901-1909) were examined in 1958. With one or two exceptions, none of the contents had spoiled.

Palmer And Nicklaus Win Four-Ball Meet

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — It was Palmer country and they were Arnie's Army. But Jack Nicklaus earned his share of glory, too.

Golf's most famous duo, playing together instead of against each other, shot a final-round 67 Sunday in the National Four-Ball Championship for a three-stroke victory over three other teams. They finished with a 259 total.

"There's never been a member-guest tournament that has had this much attention," the blond Nicklaus said.

"I'll invite him back every year," said Palmer.

They 25 under par gave them the $10,000 first prize, $20,000 each. It also gave Palmer his first victory of the year—on his home course.

Three strokes back, at 262, were Bruce Crampton and Oville Moody, the tournament's oldest pair. 58-year-old Sam Snead and 42-year-old Gardner Dickinson, and the 1968 champions, George Archer and Bobby Nichols, who shot a fine 63 on the final round.

Each player in the second spot won $8,166.67.

Crampton and Moody were tied with Palmer and Nicklaus until the 12th hole when Arnie put it close to the pin and Jack hit a nine iron about a foot and half away, then got the birdie.

"That was the first really good iron we'd had all day and I think it gave us a lift," Jack said.

Nicklaus got four of the team's six birdies and hit his second shot exceptionally well. Only his putting kept the final score from being even more decisive on this lush par 71 course in the hills of western Pennsylvania.

THAT'S MY BOY — Chicago Cubs' Manager Leo Durocher pats Cubs' pitcher Milt Pappas enroute to dugout following Pappas' 1-0 shutout of the Cincinnati Reds recently. It was the fourth straight win for the former Redleg pitcher and the first time this season that the Reds were shutout. Pappas record with Chicago so far is 4-1. (AP Wirephoto).

Tri Club Won By Bill Eis Jr.

For the second year in a row, a golfer from the Escanaba Country Club has captured championship honors in the annual Tri-Club Golf Tournament.

Bill Eis Jr. fired a 73 Sunday to go with the 77 he shot on Saturday for a 150 total, giving him the title by a one-stroke margin over Jerry Martin of the Highland Golf Club. Martin was the medalist in Saturday's round with a 73 before carding his 78 Sunday.

The tournament, which each year pits members of the Escanaba Country Club, the Highland Golf Club and the Gladstone Golf Club, was played this year on the Escanaba course and attracted a total of 93 golfers.

The victory was the second of the season for Eis, who was the 1966 club champion at the Escanaba Country Club. He teamed with Harold VanEffen, last year's Tri-Club winner, to capture the title in the Gladstone Golf Club's Best-Ball Tournament earlier this year.

Eis carded scores of 39, 38, 35 and 38 while winning the championship and Martin came in with scores of 37, 36, 37 and 41. Jim Sundius of Gladstone and Don Feller of the Country Club tied for third place with 152 totals.

Fifth place went to Bill Wood of Gladstone with a 153 total and Chet Faram of Highland placed sixth with 154.

Other golfers in the championship flight and their scores were Harold VanEffen (E) 156, Tom Gregoire (E) 156, Randy Eis (E) 158, Tim LeMire (E) 161, Pete Peterson (G) 162, Dr. Byron Zent (E) 164, Con Pratt (H) 164, Dick Peterson (E) 166 and Arne Anderson (E) 168.

Racer Killed As Boat Flips

YPSILANTI (AP) — Frank Cassow, 44, of Ottawa, Ill., was fatally injured Sunday when his boat, Miss Ottawa, flipped over and disintegrated during the 1970 National Limited Inboard Hydroplane Championships at Ford Lake at Ypsilanti.

He was taken to the University of Michigan Medical Center at Ann Arbor, where he died.

A U-M spokesman said he suffered lacerations of the liver and the hepatic vein.

Cassow's boat was in the backstretch, about 2-3rds of a mile from the start of the last lap of the heat for 5-liter boats, when it blew apart.

Some spectators who were sitting on top of a boat house said it appeared his engine just blew up. However, a driver in the race said that Cassow's boat "porpoised" in that the snout dipped into the water and "just broke into a million pieces."

A helicopter—used expressly for the race—dropped down and a man jumped into the water and pulled Cassow out. The helicopter also poured out orange smoke to temporarily halt the race. It took an hour to clean up the debris.

Drivers escaped injury in two other spectacular crashes. Doug Boudan of Lacombe, La., defending national champion in the 5-liter class, was thrown out at the first turn as his boat, Golden Girl, rolled on its side.

Another ski boat, the Super Sea-dog, driven by Jim Dillon of Pryor, Lake, Minn., flipped end-over-end.

Frank Budweiser, driven by Frank Byres of Columbus, Ohio, had a speed of 89:508 miles per hour in winning the second and final five-mile heat Sunday to take the championship in the 7-liter class, which brought the largest boats in Sunday's events.

Pro Grid Rift Far From Goal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Negotiators in the National Football League contract dispute scheduled a joint session today to discuss results of subcommittee "work sessions" held Sunday.

Federal mediator Gilbert J. Seldin said the negotiators broke up into the smaller work sessions Sunday and each group was assigned specific areas of the dispute to discuss.

The negotiations were still shrouded in secrecy as they have been since the talks began last Friday. Seldin refused to say if any progress has been made.

The main issue on the table concerns pensions for the players. The NFL owners have offered $18 million toward pensions over the next four years. The Players Association is demanding $26 million.

The league's 1,300 players were scheduled to report to their training camps Sunday, but no one showed up and most of the camps remained closed.

The NFL contract expired at midnight Saturday.

One of the player representatives, Ken Bowman of the Green Bay Packers, called the present situation a "lockout" by the owners rather than a strike.

Seldin called it a "work stoppage."

He said the status of the situation was "a complicated legal issue" that a court would have to rule on before it could be termed either a lockout or a strike.

Seldin noted that the work stoppage has none of the characteristics of a normal labor dispute. Rookie players are working out at some of the camps, the Kansas City Chiefs are still training, a number of the veteran players are carrying out informal training at other locations and there are no picket lines.

The Chiefs are preparing for Friday's annual game against the College All-Stars. Both the owners and the players have approved the club's participation in the game.

If the dispute is not settled, however, the Kansas City team will leave their Liberty Mo., camp after the All-Star game.

Tiger Tales

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox are the losingest team in the major leagues but all the Detroit Tigers managed to win from them was six of 12 games. Detroit doesn't face Chicago again this year.

"Sure I consider that a success," said Chicago manager Don Guttridge laughingly.

His team is in last place in the American League West with a 35-67 record, 29½ games behind first-place Minnesota.

Next Sunday is at Kaline Day at Tiger Stadium, with Detroit opposing Minnesota. Three of Kaline's former managers—Bob Scheffing, Jack Tighe and Frank Skaff—have accepted invitations to attend. A capacity crowd will probably be on hand to honor the Tiger veteran outfielder.

"I just hope it doesn't rain," Kaline grinned Sunday.

Mickey Lotich's wife is expecting the couple's third child in October.

"The baby will be born at 11:30 a.m. Oct. 15," Lotich predicted with a smile. "Who wants to bet on it?"

He said his wife told him: "It'll be just my luck you guys will win it all this year and then I can't go to the World Series."

More than 30,000 baseballs were given out at Tiger Stadium for the Ball Day event, last giveaway this year at the park. It was a record number of balls.

Joe Niekro, 10-8; Les Cain, 9-3; and Denny McLain, 2-2, are scheduled to pitch for Detroit in the Kansas City series starting Tuesday night. The Royals' probable ace is Dick Drago, 6-8; Jim Rooker, 7-9; and Bob John-

Manistique Team Wins LL Final

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Little League team, behind the one-hit pitching performance of Jay Keteik, upended Menominee in the District Championship game Saturday, 8-1, by scoring eight times in the seventh inning.

In the consolation game Manistique nipped the Escanaba Little Leaguers, 3-1.

Manistique now advances to regional tournament action at Iron Mountain on Friday and will meet the Lake of the Clouds team from Ontonagon at 4 p.m. with the finals scheduled for 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Manistique's Little Leaguers after battling to a 1-1 tie at the end of regular play, exploded for eight runs in the seventh inning to wrap up their second straight district title.

In the crucial inning, Jeff Miller led off with a single which was followed by consecutive singles by Bert Chandler, Bob Masters, Steve White and John Ozanich. Two walks, four Menominee errors, and Miller's second hit of the inning, a single, ended the Manistique outburst.

Keteik, in snaring the mound victory, allowed only one hit, walked two and fanned nine Menominee batters. Scott Herbert was the starting and losing pitcher for Menominee.

In the consolation game, Manistique broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning and added another run in the sixth to defeat the Escanaba Little Leaguers.

Escanaba took an early 1-0 lead in the first inning on two walks and a single by Cris Anderson. Manistique tied the game in the third on two walks

Baseball's Loss Is Golf's Gain

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Remember the last time the Yankees and Giants played in a World Series? That would be 1962. You may recall how the series went down to the seventh and final game.

The Yankees won 1-0, scoring the only run on a bases-loaded double play. And the San Francisco threat in the ninth was snuffed out with the tying run on third and the winning run on second when Bobby Richardson stuck his glove high over the grass and speared Willie McCovey's line drive.

That play made Ralph Terry, now a golf pro at Mendham, N.J., the World Series hero. Had the Giants won for Manager Alvin Dark, pitcher Jack Sanford, a 24-game winner that year, would have been the Series hero.

Sanford had won the second game, 2-0, allowing three hits. The husky right hander from Wellesley, Mass., had only two days rest but struck out 10 while making only 106 pitches.

Sanford, like Terry, has turned to golf but unlike Terry, he retains his amateur standing. Jack doesn't play for money. He manages Lou Perini's Palm Beach Lakes Golf Center, one of the busiest 18-hole courses in Florida the year around.

"I've been down here four winters," Sanford was saying while hitting some iron shots behind the golf shop. "but this is my first time out of baseball and I'm ready to buy a home down here."

"I could still be the pitching coach for Alvin and the Cleveland Indians. In fact, when I told them last fall I was leaving baseball, Sam McDowell, their great southpaw, offered me part of his 1970 raise if I changed my mind."

Sanford had a lot on the ball as a pitcher, winning 137 games while losing 101 in 14 seasons. He also has a lot on the ball as a person.

He pitched for Bill Rigney when he managed the Giants and also the California Angels.

He pitched for Dark when Alvin managed the Giants and again when Dark had the Kansas City Royals.

Sanford is 41 now and baseball's loss is golf's gain. Funny thing, if Alvin Dark, a fine golfer, plays in any baseball-golf tournaments next winter, Jack Sanford will be the man he has to beat.

Rampaging Esky Cubs Win 3 Legion Tests

MANISTIQUE — The Escanaba Cubs rammed their way into the finals of the District American Legion Tournament over the weekend by stringing together consecutive victories over Manistique, Schaffer and Menominee.

The Cubs went on hitting sprays in all three games, measuring Manistique, 18-1, Saturday and trimming Schaffer, 16-1, and Menominee, 11-7, Sunday.

In all, the Cubs managed 45 hits and 45 runs in the three games. The finals tonight will pit Escanaba against Menominee at 6.

Joe Joran paced the Cubs against Manistique with three hits, including a three-run homer. Steve Vanlerberghie also collected a trio of safeties in the easy win on Saturday. Al Larsen picked up the mound win for the Cubs as he allowed four hits, struck out eight and walked four.

Larsen added his own cause with a pair of safeties and scored four runs. Tom Jeneron was the losing hurler.

Tom Kangas toed the rubber against Schaffer and allowed

Mud Hens Win

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Rookie third baseman Pete McKenzie's two-out single sent home Toledo's winning run against Richmond in the bottom of the ninth inning after the Mud Hens had 2-0 overcame an 8-1 deficit at the end of 7½ innings. Fred Wolcott's three-run homer was the big blow of a five-run Mud Hen seventh.

Sports In Brief

Michigan's a-star basketball coach Fred Snowden has produced some outstanding players in another sport—baseball. Two current American League All-Stars were Snowden's pupils when he coached baseball at Detroit's Northwestern High. Willie Horton, hitting .325 for the Detroit Tigers and leading the American League in RBI's, and the California Angels' Alex Johnson, second in the league in hitting, learned baseball from Snowden.

Palmer And Nicklaus Win Four-Ball Meet

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — It was Palmer country and they were Arnie's Army. But Jack Nicklaus earned his share of glory, too.

Golf's most famous duo, playing together instead of against each other, shot a final-round 67 Sunday in the National Four-Ball Championship for a three-stroke victory over three other teams. They finished with a 259 total.

"There's never been a member-guest tournament that has had this much attention," the blond Nicklaus said.

"I'll invite him back every year," said Palmer.

Their 25 under par gave them the $40,000 first prize, $20,000 each. It also gave Palmer his first victory of the year—on his home course.

Three strokes back, at 262, were Bruce Crampton and Oville Moody, the tournament's oldest pair, 58-year-old Sam Snead and 42-year-old Gardner Dickinson, and the 1968 champions, George Archer and Bobby Nichols, who shot a fine 63 on the final round.

Each player in the second spot won $8,166.67.

Crampton and Moody were tied with Palmer and Nicklaus until the 12th hole when Arnie put it close to the pin and Jack hit a nine iron about a foot and half away, then got the birdie.

"That was the first really good iron we'd had all day and I think it gave us a lift," Jack said.

Nicklaus got four of the team's six birdies and hit his second shot exceptionally well. Only his putting kept the final score from being even more decisive on this lush par 71 course in the hills of western Pennsylvania.

Nicklaus had the crowd roaring at the ninth when he hit his second shot five feet away. But he hung his putt and had to be satisfied with a par.

"Hold him in," one of Arnie's Army told Nicklaus on the 10th tee. But he didn't there.

His tee shot went into a fairway bunker and he topped his second shot, the ball going only about 50 yards. Palmer turned, his hands on his hips, and just laughed.

Palmer held Nicklaus in with a par.

But Nicklaus got the birdie on 12, nearly getting an eagle as his second shot rolled over the edge of the cup on the par-4 hole.

The 15th hole was the last breath for Moody and Crampton, who parred every hole on the back nine. Moody went into the water on his drive, took a stroke, but hit his next shot seven feet away and canned it to save par 4.

Palmer and Nicklaus were both on in two and Nicklaus' second shot was just five feet away. He made it and the edge was now two strokes.

The crowd jammed around the two as they finished the round, cherring every shot even though the second was anticlimatic.

Manistique Team Wins LL Final

MANISTIQUE — The Manistique Little League team, behind the one-hit pitching performance of Jay Keteik, upended Menominee in the District Championship game Saturday, 8-1, by scoring eight times in the seventh inning.

In the consolation game Munising nipped the Escanaba Little Leaguers, 3-1.

Manistique now advances to regional tournament action at Iron Mountain on Friday and will meet the Lake of the Clouds team from Ontonagon at 4 p.m. with the finals scheduled for 2 p.m. on Saturday.

In the crucial inning, Jeff Miller led off with a single which was followed by consecutive singles by Bert Chandler, Bob Masters, Steve White and John Ozanich. Two walks, four Menominee errors, and Miller's second hit of the inning, a single, ended the Manistique outburst.

Keteik, in snaring the mound victory, allowed only one hit, walked two and fanned nine Menominee batters. Scott Herbert was the starting and losing pitcher for Menominee.

In the consolation game, Munising broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning and added another run in the sixth to defeat the Escanaba Little Leaguers.

Escanaba took an early 1-0 lead in the first inning on two walks and a single by Cris Anderson. Munising tied the game in the third on two walks and a wild pitch and iced the game in the fourth.

Kevin Cutler allowed only four hits in taking the defeat for Escanaba while Randy Monette pitched a three-hitter in winning.

Baseball's Loss Is Golf's Gain

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Remember the last time the Yankees and Giants played in a World Series? That would be 1962. You may recall how the series went down to the seventh and final game.

The Yankees won 1-0, scoring the only run on a bases loaded double play. And the San Francisco threat in the ninth was snuffed out with the tying run on third and the winning run on second when Bobby Richardson stuck his glove high over the grass and speared Willie McCovey's line drive.

That play made Ralph Terry, now a golf pro at Mendham, N. J., the World Series hero. Had the Giants won for Manager Alvin Dark, pitcher Jack Sanford, a 24-game winner that year, would have been the Series hero.

Sanford had won the second game, 2-0, allowing three hits. The husky right hander from Wellesley, Mass., had only two days rest but struck out 10 while making only 106 pitches.

Sanford, like Terry, has turned to golf but unlike Terry, he retains his amateur standing. Jack doesn't play for money. He manages Lou Perini's Palm Beach Lakes Golf Center, one of the busiest 18-hole courses in Florida the year around.

"I've been down here four winters," Sanford was saying while hitting some iron shots behind the golf shop, "but this is my first time out of baseball and I'm ready to buy a home down here."

"I could still be the pitching coach for Alvin and the Cleveland Indians. In fact, when I told them last fall I was leaving baseball, Sam McDowell, their great southpaw, offered me part of his 1970 raise if I changed my mind."

Sanford had a lot on the ball as a pitcher, winning 137 games while losing 101 in 14 seasons. He also has a lot on the ball as a person.

He pitched for Bill Rigney when he managed the Giants and also the California Angels.

He pitched for Dark when Alvin managed the Giants and again when Dark had the Kansas City Athletics. When Charley Finley released Sanford because he was one of the oldest pitchers on the staff, Dark said: "I'll have a different job in 1968 and I'll want you as my pitching coach."

When Dark was made Cleveland pilot one of the first persons he called was Jack Sanford.

Recently, we had the pleasure of asking Dark and McDowell, in separate conversations at Yankee Stadium, and they thought of Sanford.

"Jack Sanford is one of my favorite people," Dark said. "We played on the Giants. He can come back anytime he wants even though I have a fine pitching coach in Cot Deal."

Sam McDowell, who has led the American League in strikeouts four of the last five years, then was sounded out.

"There never has been a man in my career who has helped me more and I worked with Jack only two years," said Sam. "He had the unique quality of knowing me better than I knew myself."

"I had lost confidence after I hurt my arm in 1966. He pumped me up without me knowing it."

"This spring when we opened the season in Cleveland against Baltimore I slipped on the mound and couldn't finish the game. That night the first person who called me was Jack Sanford from West Palm Beach. He wanted to know if I was all right."

Sanford is 41 now and baseball's loss is golf's gain. Funny thing, if Alvin Dark, a fine golfer, plays in any baseball golf tournaments next winter, Jack Sanford will be the man he has to beat.

Rampaging Esky Cubs Win 3 Legion Tests

MEMORINEE — The Escanaba Cubs rammed their way into the finals of the District American Legion Tournament over the weekend by stringing together consecutive victories over Manistique, Schaffer and Menominee.

The Cubs went on hitting sprees in all three games, measuring Manistique, 18-1, Saturday and trimming Schaffer, 16-1, and Menominee, 11-7, Sunday.

In all, the Cubs managed 45 hits and 45 runs in the three games. The finals tonight will pit Escanaba against Menominee at 6.

Joe Joran paced the Cubs against Manistique with three hits, including a three-run homer. Steve Venierberghe also collected a trio of safeties in the easy win on Saturday. Al Larsen picked up the mound win for the Cubs as he allowed four hits, struck out eight and walked four.

Larsen aided his own cause with a pair of safeties and scored four runs. Tom Jeneron was the losing hurler.

Tom Kangas toed the rubber against Schaffer and allowed five safeties while striking out eight batters.

The Cubs battered Schaffer pitching for 17 hits, three each by Joran and Brian Larsen and four safeties by Dan Mylander. Mylander's key blow was a three-run homer in the fourth inning. Kangas also banged one for the circuit, his coming with one man aboard.

Against Menominee Sunday things were a little tougher but 12 hits by the Cubs and six errors by the host club helped matters in the long run.

Larson To Rescue

Menominee opened the scoring in the first inning with Dave Kohrt scoring on Jeff Grissik's double, who then crossed the plate in front of Dan Jacques, who homered. Doug Howard then loaded the bases and Larsen came in to retire the next two batters without further damage.

The Cubs came back with three in their half of the inning as Dan Mylander followed teammates Joran and Vanlerberghe across the platter after lacing one of Jacques' slants over the centerfield fence.

Single runs in the second and third frames and two more in both the fourth and fifth innings spelled finis for Menominee.

Coach Jim Bruce got plenty of hitting power in the three games with most players getting their share.

Grissik's three-run shot in the final inning gave the losers their final tallies.

Tri Club Won By Bill Eis Jr.

For the second year in a row, a golfer from the Escanaba Country Club has captured championship honors in the annual Tri-Club Golf Tournament.

Bill Eis Jr. fired a 73 Sunday to go with the 77 he shot on Saturday for a 150 total, giving him the title by a one-stroke margin over Jerry Martin of the Highland Golf Club. Martin was the medalist in Saturday's round with a 73 before carding his 78 Sunday.

The tournament, which each year pits members of the Escanaba Country Club, the Highland Golf Club and the Gladstone Golf Club, was played this year on the Escanaba course and attracted a total of 93 golfers.

The victory was the second of the season for Eis, who was the 1966 club champion at the Escanaba Country Club. He teamed with Harold VanEffen, last year's Tri-Club winner, to capture the title in the Gladstone Golf Club's Best-Ball Tournament earlier this year.

Eis carded scores of 39, 33, 35 and 38 while winning the championship and Martin came in with scores of 37, 36, 37 and 41. Jim Sundelius of Gladstone and Don Feller of the Country Club tied for third place with 152 totals.

Fifth place went to Bill Wood of Gladstone with a 153 total and Chet Faram of Highland placed sixth with 154.

Other golfers in the championship flight and their scores were Harold VanEffen (E) 156, Tom Gregoire (E) 156, Randy Eis (E) 158, Tim LeMire (E) 161, Pete Peterson (G) 162, Dr. Byron Zeni (E) 164, Con Pratt (H) 164, Dick Peterson (E) 166 and Arne Anderson (E) 168.

Other flight winners in the tournament were:

First Flight: 1. Dave Friets, Highland; 2. Don Miller, Escanaba; 3. Jim Douglas, Highland.

Second Flight: 1. Jack Smith, Highland; 2. Ken Turner, Escanaba; 3. Mickey Douglas, Highland, and Jim Hirn, Escanaba.

Racer Killed As Boat Flips

YPSILANTI (AP) — Frank Cassow, 44, of Ottawa, Ill., was fatally injured Sunday when his boat, Miss Ottawa, flipped over and disintegrated during the 1970 National Limited Inboard Hydroplane Championships at Ford Lake at Ypsilanti.

He was taken to the University of Michigan Medical Center at Ann Arbor, where he died.

A U-M spokesman said he suffered lacerations of the liver and the hepatic vein.

Cassow's boat was in the backstretch, about 2-3rds of a mile from the start of the last lap of the heat for 5-liter boats, when it blew apart.

Some spectators who were sitting on top of a boat house said it appeared his engine just blew up. However, a driver in the race said that Cassow's boat "porpoised" in that the snout dipped into the water and "just broke into a million pieces."

A helicopter—used expressly for the race — dropped down and a man jumped into the water and pulled Cassow out. The helicopter also poured out orange smoke to temporarily halt the race. It took an hour to clean up the debris.

Drivers escaped injury in two other spectacular crashes. Doug Boudan of Lacombe, La., defending national champion in the ski boat class, was thrown out at the first turn as his boat, Golden Girl rolled on its side. Another ski boat, the Super Seado, driven by Jim Dillon of Pryor Lake, Minn., flipped end-over-end.

Miss Budweiser, driven by Frank Byres of Columbus, Ohio, had a speed of 89:508 miles per hour in winning the second and final five-mile heat Sunday to take the championship in the 7-liter class, which brought the largest boats in Sunday's events.

Pro Grid Rift Far From Goal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Negotiators in the National Football League contract dispute scheduled a joint session today to discuss results of subcommittee "work sessions" held Sunday.

Federal mediator Gilbert J. Seldin said the negotiators broke up into the smaller work sessions Sunday and each group was assigned specific areas of the dispute to discuss.

The negotiations were still shrouded in secrecy as they have been since the talks began last Friday. Seldin refused to say if any progress has been made.

The main issue on the table concerns pensions for the players. The NFL owners have offered $18 million toward pensions over the next four years. The Players Association is demanding $26 million.

The league's 1,300 players were scheduled to report to their training camps Sunday, but no one showed up and most of the camps remained closed.

The NFL contract expired at midnight Saturday.

One of the player representatives, Ken Bowman of the Green Bay Packers, called the present situation a "lockout" by the owners rather than a strike.

The owners refused comment on Bowman's remark.

Seldin called it a "work stoppage."

He said the status of the situation was "a complicated legal issue" that a court would have to rule on before it could be termed either a lockout or a strike.

Seldin noted that the work stoppage has none of the characteristics of a normal labor dispute. Rookie players are working out at some of the camps, the Kansas City Chiefs are still training, a number of the veteran players are carrying out informal training at other locations and there are no picket lines.

The Chiefs are preparing for Friday's annual game against the College All-Stars. Both the owners and the players have approved the club's participation in the game.

If the dispute is not settled, however, the Kansas City team will leave their Liberty, Mo., camp after the All-Star game.

Tiger Tales

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox are the longest team in the major leagues but all the Detroit Tigers managed to win from them was six of 12 games. Detroit doesn't face Chicago again this year.

"Sure I consider that a success," said Chicago manager Don Gutteridge laughingly.

His team is in last place in the American League West with a 35-67 record, 29½ games behind first-place Minnesota.

Next Sunday is Al Kaline Day at Tiger Stadium, with Detroit opposing Minnesota. Three of Kaline's former managers—Bob Scheffing, Jack Tighe and Frank Skaff — have accepted invitations to attend. A capacity crowd will probably be on hand to honor the Tiger veteran outfielder.

"I just hope it doesn't rain," Kaline grinned Sunday.

Mickey Lolich's wife is expecting the couple's third child in October.

"The baby will be born at 11:30 a.m. Oct. 15," Lolich predicted with a smile. "Who wants to bet on it?"

He said his wife told him: "It'll be just my luck you guys will win it all this year and then I can't go to the World Series."

More than 30,000 baseballs were given out at Tiger Stadium for the Ball Day event, last giveaway this year at the park. It was a record number of balls.

Joe Niekro, 10-8; Les Cain, 9-3; and Denny McLain, 2-2, are scheduled to pitch for Detroit in the Kansas City series starting Tuesday night. The Royals' probablea are Dick Drago, 6-8; Jim Rooker, 7-9; and Bob Johnson, 3-7.

Sports In Brief

Michigan's assistant basketball coach Fred Snowden has produced some outstanding players in another sport — baseball. Two current American League All-Stars were Snowden's pupils when he coached baseball at Detroit's Northwestern High. Willie Horton, hitting .325 for the Detroit Tigers and leading the American League in RBI's, and the California Angels' Alex Johnson, second in the league in hitting, learned baseball from Snowden.

Iverson Regains Winning Form

The largest crowd of the year, 3,133 fans turned out at the Escanaba Speedway Saturday night and saw Bob Iverson of Hyde regain his winning form, capturing the modified main event, while young Larry Duford of Kingsford walked off with the sportsman feature.

With 18 cars starting in the 20 lap modified feature, it looked like a run-a-way with Iverson, who had trouble qualifying because of brake problems, sitting on the outside pole position. With the drop of the green flag, Iverson moved into the lead, and only three restarts helped keep the race close. The third restart on lap 15 proved the most thrilling with Iverson and Jerry Richer of Schaffer lining up side by side, with Canadian Ed Powley running third. However Iverson was not to be denied and he again shot into the lead and when the checkered flag dropped, he had his 13th victory of the season. Powley moved in on the last lap to capture second, with Richer a close third, and Bob Blank of West Bend, Wis. fourth.

Double Winner
Iverson was the only modified double winner of the night, also capturing the second heat. He had little trouble in the race, taking the lead at the end of one lap and won easily over Wes Seabrook of Soo, Canada and Ray Gardner of Escanaba.

Jim Barron of Flat Rock drove one of his best races of the year to capture the semi-feature. He took the lead on lap 6 to the 15 lap event, and then maintained a near perfect groove to hold off challenges by Ed Provo of Escanaba and Dave Boileau of Escanaba, who finished second and third respectively.

Allen Yelle of Sands picked up his first victory in the third heat. Starting in the outside position of the front row he led for all 12 laps. Jim Peterson and Gene Coleman of Menominee stayed on his heels all the way but couldn't pass him.

The first heat was a two car battle between two Escanaba drivers, Duke Gardner and Jim Villeneuve. Villeneuve held the lead for the first 7 laps, but then spun, and Gardner, who had been running second moved into first and finished just ahead of Villeneuve.

Powley captured top modified time for the third time this season with a clocking of 20:25.

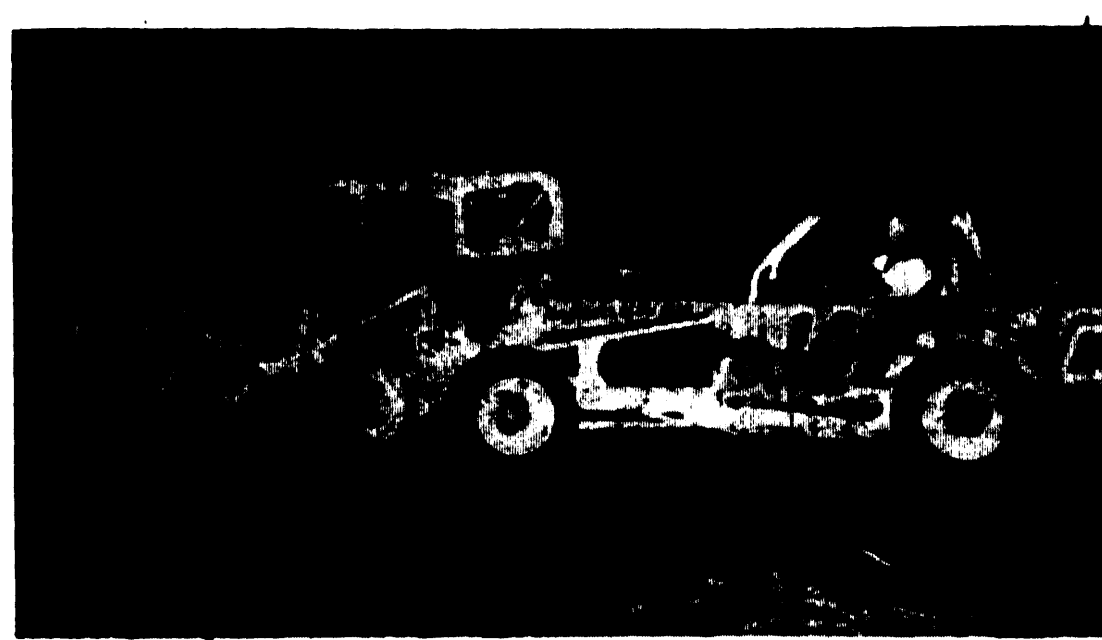

Dubord Wins
The smooth driving Duford made it look easy in capturing the sportsman feature. Starting from near the rear, he worked his way into the first position on lap 7, and held the lead for the next 13 laps, lapping many of the slower cars. Norway driver Pat Temple, the current point leader had to settle for second, and Joe Haferkorn of Norway edged Wenne Tourangeau of Schaffer for third place honors.

The sportsman semi-feature was a confusing race, and the winner was not decided till well after the race when the judges got all the laps counted. John Buckland of Escanaba was declared the winner, with Allen Richer of Schaffer finishing second. John Mattia of Norway had looked like a sure winner, having led most of the way, but his car stopped on the last lap, and Buckland was there to take over the top position.

In the heats, Haferkorn picked up his 9th win of the season in the third heat, winning over Mike Bubloni of Vulcan and Duford. Ron Fox of Escanaba captured the second heat, with John Kelker of Escanaba edging Dennis Kivioja of Gwinn for second place, and Mattia copped first heat honors, winning over Buckland.

Sportsman time trial honors went to Kingsford native Ron Paquette with a clocking of 21:78.

Injuries, 'Southpawitis' Dim Tiger Flag Hopes

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have developed southpawitis and with righthand slugger Willie Horton on the disabled list the dangerous malady may linger a while longer.

Lefty Tommy John won his fourth straight game, scattering seven hits for his third complete game in that span as the Chicago White Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers 4-0 Sunday.

It was the sixth whitewashing of the year suffered by the injury-ridden Tigers and four have been against left-handers.

"I was glad to see Horton out of there and I'm sure a few other pitchers, particularly left-handers, will feel the same way," said John, now 9-12 and coming on strong after a slow start.

4 1/2 Games Back
The loss, coupled with Baltimore's 11-1 romp over Minnesota, dropped Detroit 4 1/2 games behind the first-place Orioles. The Tigers have today off but host Kansas City in a three game series beginning Tuesday, when Joe Niekro, 10-8, is scheduled to pitch against Dick Drago, 6-8, of the Athletics.

Baseball managers traditionally stock their batting order with righthand hitters against left hand pitchers and do the opposite against righthand pitcher.

It is supposed to be easier for

Top Million Mark
But nothing was easy for the Tigers, who committed three errors, didn't give strong pitching Mickey Lolich any support, and generally played a poor game before 49,631 Ball Day fans at Tiger Stadium. The crowd gave Detroit 1,019,071 for the year—the 27th time the club has drawn more than a million and the 23rd time in the last 26 seasons.

Lolich, now 9-12, was locked in a pitching duel with John for seven innings, with Chicago picking up an unearned run off him in the sixth. Then the White Sox busted loose for three runs in the eighth of oft-used reliever Tom Timmerman to ice the victory and finish the season series by splitting 12 games with Detroit.

Tiger manager Mayo Smith called on Timmerman in both games Friday, Saturday's game and Sunday. The 30-year-old righthander gave up three runs in the first game, then one in then one in the next, one Saturday and Three Sunday.

On Disabled List
Horton was put on the disabled list Saturday after examination showed he tore ligaments in his left ankle in a game Friday.

Rookie shortstop Ken Szotkiewicz is also on the disabled list with a bad knee and outfielder Jim Northrup is still bothered by a pulled hamstring muscle.

"I think the biggest thing with our club is that we have to stay close to Baltimore — like three or four games away — until guys come back," Lolich said in the Tiger clubhouse. "Then we have to come on strong."

The paunchy southpaw was in a happy mood, considering he has only given up two earned runs the last two games and lost both.

John Comments
"I've had six runs to work with in the last three games," Lolich said, tongue in cheek. "You can't complain about that." John said he hasn't done anything differently in his current pitching surge.

"I feel I have thrown well all year except for a few bad games," he said. "I was pitching just as well when I was 0-5 at the beginning."

Last year his record was 9-11. Manager Don Gutierrez said then he was bothered by numerous military commitments. But this year John was switched from the Air National Guard to the Air Force Reserve and he said he doesn't have many interruptions from pitching.

Chicago scored its first run on a two base error by second baseman Dick McAuliffe, a bunt, an single by Carlos May.

In the eighth Luis Aparicio led off with a single, May walked, and Duane Josephson was safe on a bunt to load the bases. Syd O'Brien hit a sacrifice fly, Jim Spence followed with an RBI single, and Ken Berry sent in a run on a force play.

HR Barrage By Pair Paces Reds, Braves

By The Associated Press
Tony Perez learned that only one day on the bench can cost him his lead in homers and runs batted in—if Johnny Bench is playing.

The Atlanta Braves, on the other hand, found out that Orlando Cepeda on the bench for just one at bat can cost them a ball game—even if Hank Aaron is hitting.

Bench Leads League
With Perez resting for the day with his 30 homers and 94 RBIs, Bench slammed three homers and a single and drove in seven runs in Cincinnati's 12-5 rout over St. Louis Sunday, giving Bench the National League lead in both categories with 33 and 95.

Cepeda, given an extra game, did still more for Atlanta. He ripped three homers and a single and drove in six runs in an 8-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the opener of their doubleheader.

He had two singles and a double in the nightcap, but was taken out for a pinch-runner in the eighth inning.

He watched on the sidelines in the ninth inning when Tumme Aaron, his replacement, came to bat with two on and two out, and Hank Aaron came in to pinch hit and hit into a force out. The Braves lost 7-6.

Bench and Cepeda led a day of home-run hitting and run-scoring as Houston edged Pittsburgh 6-4 in 10 innings, San Diego mauled Philadelphia 16-2, Los Angeles stopped the New York Mets 5-3 and San Francisco topped Montreal 6-2.

Best Day Ever
Bench, "having the best day I've had since I was nine years old in little league ball," opened his barrage in the first inning with a three-run shot. He connected for No. 2 in the second with one on, and then hit his third in the fifth with none on.

Given two more chances at record-tying four in one game, he singled in the sixth inning, then drove in his 95th run with a ground out in the eighth as he sent the Cardinals to their eighth straight loss and 17th in 19 games.

His outburst made things easy for rookie Wayne Simpson, 14-2, who didn't allow a hit until one out in the sixth inning. He needed help when St. Louis scored five times with the aid of several errors in the eighth.

Cepeda, with 11 hits in the four-game series against the Cubs, was even more successful as he boosted his homer total to 21 with solo shots in the second and fourth innings and his second grand-slam of the season in the fifth. He also singled home a run in the ninth.

Cepeda's two singles in the nightcap were unproductive but his double in the eighth, with Atlanta trailing 7-3, led to a run when Mike Lum tripled—and it also sent him to the bench for pinch-runner Tommie Aaron.

He watched from the sidelines while Gil Garido singled, Felix Millan doubled and Tony Gonzalez singled for two runs and Roberto Rodriguez, who homered in the opener, relieved and got Hank Aaron to end the game.

Cubs Win Nightcap
The Cubs took the homer play in the nightcap as Billy Williams and Jim Hickman, who had one in the opener, each connected, while Hal King hit Atlanta's only homer.

Jimmy Wynn's two-run homer off Dave Giusti, 8-2, in the 10th inning put Houston over Pittsburgh and kept the Pirates' Eastern Division lead at 1 1/2 games over the Mets.

The game was delayed 74 minutes with none out in the bottom of the 10th before Fred Gladding got the final out with runners on second and third.

Cesar Cedeno gave Houston an early 3-1 lead with a two-run homer, but the Pirates caught up in the seventh on Manny Sanguillen's sacrifice fly.

Al Ferrara hit two homers and Nate Colbert and Steve Huntz had one each in San Diego's 16-hit attack that ended Philadelphia's four-game winning streak.

Wayne Garrett hit two homers for all of the Mets' runs. Tom Haller hit a solo shot for the Dodgers and Ted Sizemore hit a sacrifice fly and tripled and scored on Bill Russell's sacrifice fly. Russell also threw out the potential tying run at the plate in the eighth inning.

Juan Marichal scattered nine hits for San Francisco and won only his fourth game of the season against nine losses. Willie Mays and Willie McCovey gave him plenty of batting help, each driving in two runs. Mays with two of his three singles and McCovey with a double and a triple.

Boudreau, 3 Others Enter Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Four new members move into baseball's Hall of Fame today as 10,000 fans jam this historic village to honor Lou Boudreau, Earle Combs, Jesse Haines and Ford Frick, and to watch a ball game.

After watching the formal induction ceremonies and the unveiling of the new plaques, boosting the total membership to 118, the fans stroll down Main Street to Doubleday Field to see the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game.

Exhibition Game
Because Montreal, one of last year's expansion clubs, is playing here for the first time, a planeload of 98 persons from Montreal will be on hand for the game between the Expos and the Chicago White Sox.

Although both teams are bumping around in the lower reaches of their respective divisions, the annual game attracts a sellout throng. The American League, which long ago lost its domination of the All-Star series, still holds a 15-11 edge in this series that means no more than possession of the Hall of Fame Cup.

The induction ceremonies are set for 10 a.m. EDT, in front of the Hall of Fame Library. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn runs the show with the help of Bob Hunter of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, president of the Baseball Writers Association who is master of ceremonies.

Another planeload of 70 friends of Boudreau from his home town of Harvey, Ill., will watch the former Cleveland shortstop and player-manager take his place with the baseball greats of the past.

Lifetime Average .295
Boudreau, 52, was voted into the Hall by the veteran baseball writers in January with 232 of a possible 300 votes, or more than the required 75 per cent. He played 15 big league seasons with Cleveland and Boston and had a career batting average of .295, leading the American League in 1944 with .327. In 1948 he hit two homers and two singles in the tie playoff game in which Cleveland beat Boston for the Pennant, and was voted the most valuable player in the league.

Boudreau managed Cleveland, Boston, Kansas City and the Chicago Cubs before moving into the radio-television berth in Chicago. He is the father-in-law of Denny McLain, controversial Detroit pitcher.

Combs, 70, Haines 76, and Frick 75, were selected by the veterans committee in a special election.

Combs spent 12 years in the majors with the New York Yankees as leadoff man and center fielder for the great teams from 1924 through 1935 and compiled a .325 average.

Haines, a 24-game winner for St. Louis in 1927, won 210 and lost 158 for the Cardinals. The knuckleball pitcher broke in with Cincinnati in 1918 but had no record and came back with St. Louis to stay from 1920 through 1937.

Frick, former commissioner and president of the National League, moved into the executive branch of the game after a career as a baseball writer. It was his leadership that led to the establishment of the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown in 1939.

Kiwanis Victors In 'Ruth' Contest

Kiwanis measured the Teamsters, 17-1, Saturday in Babe Ruth League action at Ness Field.

Jim Nevala, Jim Joran, Mike Dailey and Rick DeSalvo contributed two hits each in the victory, the sixth this season for the Kiwanians against two defeats.

Dailey picked up the win over Tom Ritta. Steve Erickson paced the losers with a pair of safeties.

Boog Powell Takes Care Of Minnesota

By The Associated Press
It upsets Boog Powell to strike out with the bases loaded. So Minnesota pitchers Jim Perry and Dick Woodson, much to their chagrin, helped make the big Baltimore first baseman happy in a big way as the Orioles blitzed the Twins 11-1 Sunday.

The game was scoreless when Powell came to bat against Hall with the bases loaded in the fourth. He singled in two runs.

Baltimore led 5-1 when Powell came up against Woodson in the eighth. He crashed his 26th homer to boost his RBI total to 86.

Baltimore, first in the American League East, added two runs in the ninth in completing the rout of the West-leading Twins. Dave McNally upped his record to 13-7 with his first victory since June 30. Perry suffered his eighth loss in the bid for his 18th victory.

California edged Washington 11-10 in 11 innings with President Nixon as a spectator in Anaheim Stadium, Boston blasted Milwaukee 12-5, Cleveland swept Kansas City 6-5 and 3-0, Oakland nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 and the Chicago White Sox blanked Detroit 4-0.

Fifteen pitchers, eight by California, paraded to the mound in the Angels' victory over Washington, which came when Bill Cowan singled and scored on Jarvis Tatum's two-out double. Chico Ruiz had scored on a force forecourt to give California a 10-10 tie in the ninth after Washington had taken a 10-9 lead in the top of the inning on a two-run single by Frank Howard and a one-run single by Aurelio Rodriguez.

Ken McMullen, Roger Repoz and Sandy Alomar homered for California. Howard hit his 29th homer in the sixth. It was followed by Mike Epstein's second of the game and 13th of the year.

Boston rode over Milwaukee as Tony Conigliaro belted a pair of two-run homers. Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run shot his 27th, and George Thomas belted a solo shot. Tommy Harper and Jerry McNertney homered for the Brewers who had a three-game winning streak snapped.

Rookie Roy Foster's three-run homer sparked Cleveland's 6-5 first-game victory over Kansas City, despite a two-run homer and two-run single by the Royals' Bob Oliver. Chuck Hinton also homered for Cleveland.

In the Indians second-game victory, Steve Hargan pitched a five-hitter and Graig Nettles, Eddie Leon and Tony Horton homered.

The A's beat the Yankees for their sixth straight victory when Dick Green drove in the winning run with an infield hit in the sixth. Dave Duncan homered for Oakland while Jerry Kenney and Ron Hansen connected for the Yankees.

Iverson Regains Winning Form

The largest crowd of the year, 3,133 fans turned out at the Escanaba Speedway Saturday night and saw Bob Iverson of Hyde regain his winning form, capturing the modified main event, while young Larry Duford of Kingsford walked off with the sportsmen feature.

With 18 cars starting in the 20 lap modified feature, it looked like a run-a-way with Iverson, who had trouble qualifying because of brake problems, sitting on the outside pole position. With the drop of the green flag, Iverson moved into the lead, and only three restarts helped keep the race close. The third restart on lap 15 proved the most thrilling with Iverson and Jerry Richer of Schaffer lining up side by side, with Canadian Ed Powley running third. However Iverson was not to be denied and he again shot into the lead and when the checkered flag dropped, he had his 13th victory of the season. Powley moved in on the last lap to capture second, with Richer a close third, and Bob Blank of West Bend, Wis. fourth.

Double Winner
Iverson was the only modified double winner of the night, also capturing the second heat. He had little trouble in the race, taking the lead at the end of one lap and won easily over Wes Seabrook of Soo, Canada and Ray Gardner of Escanaba.

Jim Barron of Flat Rock drove one of his best races of the year to capture the semi-feature. He took the lead on lap 6 to the 15 lap event, and then maintained a near perfect groove to hold off challenges by Ed Provo of Escanaba and Dave Boileau of Escanaba, who finished second and third respectively.

Allen Velle of Sands picked up his first victory in the third heat. Starting in the outside position of the front row he led for all 12 laps. Jim Peterson and Gene Coleman of Menominee stayed on his heels all the way but couldn't pass him.

The first heat was a two car battle between two Escanaba drivers, Duke Gardiner and Jim Villeneuve. Villeneuve held the lead for the first 7 laps, but then spun, and Gardiner, who had been running second moved into first and finished just ahead of Villeneuve.

Powley captured top modified time for the third time this season with a clocking of 20:25.

Dubord Wins
The smooth driving Duford made it look easy in capturing the sportsman feature. Starting from near the rear, he worked his way into the first position on lap 7, and held the lead for the next 13 laps, lapping many of the slower cars. Norway driver Pat Temple, the current point leader had to settle for second, and Joe Haferkorn of Norway edged Wenne Tourangeau of Schaffer for third place honors.

The sportsmen semi-feature was a confusing race, and the winner was not decided till well after the race when the judges got all the laps counted. John Buckland of Escanaba was declared the winner, with Allen Richer of Schaffer finishing second. John Mattia of Norway had looked like a sure winner, having led most of the way, but his car stopped on the last lap, and Buckland was there to take over the top position.

In the heats, Haferkorn picked up his 9th win of the season in the third heat, winning over Mike Bubloni of Vulcan and Duford. Ron Fox of Escanaba captured the second heat, with John Kelker of Escanaba edging Dennis Kivioja of Gwinn for second place, and Mattia capped first heat honors, winning over Buckland.

Sportsmen time trial honors went to Kingsford native Ron Paquette with a clocking of 21:78.

In the special news media race, Dick Lewis of the Escanaba Daily Press captured first place honors, with Jim Pinar of WDBC finishing second, and Lou Freeman of the Press was third. Speed shift Howes had problems shifting and came in last.

Injuries, 'Southpawitis' Dim Tiger Flag Hopes

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have developed southpawitis and with righthand slugger Willie Horton on the disabled list the dangerous malady may linger a while longer.

Lefty Tommy John won his fourth straight game, scattering seven hits for his third complete game in that span as the Chicago White Sox blanked the Detroit Tigers 4-0 Sunday.

It was the sixth whitewashing of the year suffered by the injury-ridden Tigers and four have been against lefthanders.

"I was glad to see Horton out of there and I'm sure a few other pitchers, particularly lefthanders, will feel the same way," said John, now 9-12 and coming on strong after a slow start.

6½ Games Back
The loss, coupled with Baltimore's 11-1 romp over Minnesota, dropped Detroit 6½ games behind the first-place Orioles. The Tigers have today off but host Kansas City in a three game series beginning Tuesday, when Joe Niekro, 10-8, is scheduled to pitch against Dick Drago, 6-8, of the Athletics.

Baseball managers traditionally stock their batting order with righthand hitters against left hand pitchers and do the opposite against righthand pitcher

It is supposed to be easier for the hitter.

Top Million Mark
But nothing was easy for the Tigers, who committed three errors, didn't give strong-pitching Mickey Lolich any support, and generally played a poor game before 49,631 Ball Day fans at Tiger Stadium. The crowd gave Detroit 1,019,071 for the year—the 27th time the club has drawn more than a million and the 23rd time in the last 26 seasons.

Lolich, now 9-12, was locked in a pitching duel with John for seven innings, with Chicago picking up an unearned run off him in the sixth.

Then the White Sox busted loose for three runs in the eighth of oft-used reliever Tom Timmerman to ice the victory and finish the season series by splitting 12 games with Detroit. Tiger manager Mayo Smith called on Timmerman in both games Friday, Saturday's game and Sunday. The 30-year-old righthander gave up three runs in the first game, then one in then one in the next, one Saturday and Three Sunday.

On Disabled List
Horton was put on the disabled list Saturday after examination showed he tore ligaments in his left ankle in a game Friday.

Rookie shortstop Ken Szotkiewicz is also on the disabled list with a bad knee and outfielder Jim Northrup is still bothered by a pulled hamstring muscle.

"I think the biggest thing with our club is that we have to stay close to Baltimore — like three or four games away — until guys come back," Lolich said in the Tiger clubhouse. "Then we have to come on strong."

The paunchy southpaw was in a happy mood, considering he has only given up two earned runs the last two games and lost both.

John Comments
"I've had six runs to work with in the last three games." You can't complain about that," he smiled, tongue in cheek.

John said he hasn't done anything differently in his current pitching surge.

"I feel I have thrown well all year except for a few bad games," he said. "I was pitching just as well when I was 0-5 at the beginning."

Last year his record was 9-11. Manager Don Gutierrez said then he was bothered by numerous military commitments. But this year John was switched from the Air National Guard to the Air Force Reserve and he said he doesn't have many interruptions from pitching.

Chicago scored its first run on a two base error by second baseman Dick McAuliffe, a punt, an RBI single, and Ken Berry sent in a run on a force play.

HR Barrage By Pair Paces Reds, Braves

By The Associated Press
Tony Perez learned that only one day on the bench can cost him his lead in homers and runs batted in—if Johnny Bench is playing.

The Atlanta Braves, on the other hand, found out that Orlando Cepeda on the bench for just one at bat can cost them a ball game—even if Hank Aaron is hitting.

Bench Leads League
With Perez resting for the day with his 30 homers and 94 RBI's, Bench slammed three homers and a single and drove in seven runs in Cincinnati's 12-5 rout over St. Louis Sunday, giving Bench the National League lead in both categories with 33 and 95.

Cepeda, given an extra game, did still more for Atlanta. He ripped three homers and a single and drove in six runs in an 8-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs in the opener of their doubleheader.

He had two singles and a double in the nightcap, but was taken out for a pinch-runner in the eighth inning.

He watched on the sidelines in the ninth inning when Tommie Aaron, his replacement, came to bat with two on and two out, and Hank Aaron came in to pinch hit and hit into a force out. The Braves lost 7-6.

Bench and Cepeda led a day of home-run hitting and run-scoring as Houston edged Pittsburgh 6-4 in 10 innings. San Diego mauled Philadelphia 16-2. Los Angeles stopped the New York Mets 5-3 and San Francisco topped Montreal 6-2.

Best Day Ever
Bench, "having the best day I've had since I was nine years old in little league ball," opened his barrage in the first inning with a three-run shot. He connected for No. 2 in the second with one on, and then hit his third in the fifth with none on.

Given two more chances at record-tying four in one game, he singled in the sixth inning, then drove in his 95th run with a ground out in the eighth as he sent the Cardinals to their eighth straight loss and 17th in 19 games.

His outburst made things easy for rookie Wayne Simpson, 14-2, who didn't allow a hit until one out in the sixth inning. He needed help when St. Louis scored five times with the aid of several errors in the eighth.

Cepeda, with 11 hits in the four-game series against the Cubs, was even more successful as he boosted his homer total to 21 with solo shots in the second and fourth innings and his second grand-slam of the season in the fifth. He also singled home a run in the ninth.

Cepeda's two singles in the nightcap were unproductive but his double in the eighth, with Atlanta trailing 7-3, led to a run when Mike Lum tripled—and it also sent him to the bench for pinch-runner Tommie Aaron.

He watched from the sidelines while Gil Garrido singled, Felix Millan doubled and Tony Gonzalez singled for two runs, and Roberto Rodriguez, who homered in the opener, relieved and got Hank Aaron to end the game.

Cubs Win Nightcap
The Cubs took the homer play in the nightcap as Billy Williams and Jim Hickman, who had one in the opener, each connected, while Hal King hit Atlanta's only homer.

Jimmy Wynn's two-run homer off Dave Giusti, 8-2, in the 10th inning put Houston over Pittsburgh and kept the Pirates' Eastern Division lead at 1½ games over the Mets.

The game was delayed 74 minutes with none out in the bottom of the 10th before Fred Gladding got the final out with runners on second and third.

Cesar Cedeno gave Houston an early 3-1 lead with a two-run homer, but the Pirates caught up in the seventh on Manny Sanguillen's sacrifice fly.

Al Ferrara hit two homers and Nate Colbert and Steve Huntz had one each in San Diego's 16-hit attack that ended Philadelphia's four-game winning streak.

Wayne Garrett hit two homers for all of the Mets' runs. Tom Haller hit a solo shot for the Dodgers and Ted Sizemore hit a sacrifice fly and tripled and scored on Bill Russell's sacrifice fly. Russell also threw out the potential tying run at the plate in the eighth inning.

Juan Marichal scattered nine hits for San Francisco and won only his fourth game of the season against nine losses. Willie Mays and Willie McCovey gave him plenty of batting help, each driving in two runs. Mays with two of his three singles and McCovey with a double and a triple.

Boudreau, 3 Others Enter Hall Of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Four new members move into baseball's Hall of Fame today as 10,000 fans jam this historic village to honor Lou Boudreau, Earle Combs, Jesse Haines and Ford Frick, and to watch a ball game.

After watching the formal induction ceremonies and the unveiling of the new plaques, boosting the total membership to 118, the fans stroll down Main Street to Doubleday Field to see the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game.

Exhibition Game
Because Montreal, one of last year's expansion clubs, is playing here for the first time, a planeload of 98 persons from Montreal will be on hand for the game between the Expos and the Chicago White Sox.

Although both teams are bumping around in the lower reaches of their respective divisions, the annual game attracts a sellout throng. The American League, which long ago lost its domination of the All-Star series, still holds a 15-11-1 edge in this series that means no more than possession of the Hall of Fame Cup.

The induction ceremonies are set for 10 a.m. EDT, in front of the Hall of Fame Library. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn runs the show with the help of Bob Hunter of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, president of the Baseball Writers Association who is master of ceremonies.

Another planeload of 70 friends of Boudreau from his home town of Harvey, Ill., will watch the former Cleveland shortstop and player-manager take his place with the baseball greats of the past.

Lifetime Average .295
Boudreau, 52, was voted into the Hall by the veteran baseball writers in January with 232 of a possible 300 votes, or more than the required 75 per cent. He played 15 big league seasons with Cleveland and Boston and had a career batting average of .295, leading the American League in 1944 with .327. In 1948 he hit two homers and two singles in the tie playoff game in which Cleveland beat Boston for the Pennant, and was voted the most valuable player in the league. Boudreau managed Cleveland, Boston, Kansas City and the Chicago Cubs before moving into the radio-television berth in Chicago. He is the father-in-law of Denny McLain, controversial Detroit pitcher.

Combs, 70, Haines 76, and Frick 75, were selected by the veterans committee in a special election.

Combs spent 12 years in the majors with the New York Yankees as leadoff man and center fielder for the great teams from 1924 through 1935 and compiled a .325 average.

Haines, a 24-game winner for St. Louis in 1927, won 210 and lost 158 for the Cardinals. The knuckleball pitcher broke in with Cincinnati in 1918 but had no record and came back with St. Louis to stay from 1920 through 1937.

Frick, former commissioner and president of the National League, moved into the executive branch of the game after a career as a baseball writer. It was his leadership that led to the establishment of the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown in 1939.

Kiwanis Victors In 'Ruth' Contest

Kiwanis measured the Teams-17-1, Saturday in Babe Ruth League action at Ness Field.

Jim Nevala, Jim Joran, Mike Dailey and Rick DeSalvo contributed two hits each in the victory, the sixth this season for the Kiwanians against two defeats.

Dailey picked up the win over Tom Ritta. Steve Erickson paced the losers with a pair of safeties.

Boog Powell Takes Care Of Minnesota

By The Associated Press
It upsets Boog Powell to strike out with the bases loaded. So Minnesota pitchers Jim Perry and Dick Woodson, much to their chagrin, helped make the big Baltimore first baseman happy in a big way as the Orioles blitzed the Twins 11-1 Sunday.

The game was scoreless when Powell came to bat against Hall with the bases loaded in the fourth. He singled in two runs.

Baltimore led 5-1 when Powell came against Woodson in the eighth. He crashed his 26th homer to boost his RBI total to 86.

Baltimore, first in the American League East, added two runs in the ninth in completing the rout of the West-leading Twins. Dave McNally upped his record to 13-7 with his first victory since June 30. Perry suffered his eighth loss in the bid for his 16th victory.

California edged Washington 11-10 in 11 innings with President Nixon as a spectator in Anaheim Stadium. Boston blasted Milwaukee 12-5. Cleveland swept Kansas city 6-5 and 3-0. Oakland nipped the New York Yankees 4-3 and the Chicago White Sox blanked Detroit 4-0.

Boston rode over Milwaukee as Tony Conigliaro belted a pair of two-run homers. Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run shot his 27th, and George Thomas belted a solo shot. Tommy Harper and Jerry McNertney homered for the Brewers who had a three-game winning streak snapped.

Rookie Roy Foster's three-run homer sparked Cleveland's 6-5 first-game victory over Kansas City, despite a two-run homer and two-run single by the Royals Bob Oliver. Chuck Hinton also homered for Cleveland.

UAW Will Strike If Need Arises, Woodcock Says

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — United Auto Workers do not want to strike but "will respond if necessary," the UAW president declared here.

Leonard Woodcock said Saturday the union will "do everything we can to get three settlements by Sept. 14" from the "big three" auto makers.

Woodcock, successor to the late Walter Reuther, said the "atmosphere this year is a little more optimistic" regarding labor negotiations.

He said the union could "make a sound, non-inflationary settlement."

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Two persons were reported injured Sunday on Kalamazoo's North Side when a group of youths threw rocks and bricks at a car.

Nineteen-year-old Patricia Miller of Birmingham was treated at a Kalamazoo hospital for cuts on the head, suffered when a piece of concrete bounced off the window sill of the car in which she was riding and struck her. A man in the car also was reported hit by one of the flying objects but he declined hospital treatment.

Police said they also received a report of another car struck by a brick shortly after the first incident. No arrests were reported.

Increase Noted In Park Camping

Comparative statistics through July 1969 and 1970 indicate that while attendance at district state parks is down, camping is up. A report from the Department of Natural Resources district office in Newberry said that 1,451 of the 1,560 campsites available were occupied on July 18.

Full campgrounds were reported at Brimley, Tahquamenon Falls and Straits Parks. Over 1,000 families registered at Indian Lake and Tahquamenon Falls during the week ending July 18, the report said. Indications are that this year's attendance will not be better than last year's but definitely up from 1968.

Doctor Predicts Use Of 'Mechanical Heart' Soon

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz, who has moved his heart research team from New York to Detroit, says that he hopes to try an operation placing a partial "mechanical heart" in a human "very soon."

The operation would involve a device which would be hooked up to the blood vessels to take over half of the pumping load of the heart.

If it fails, he explained, the original heart would still be there to carry on as it had in the past.

"We hope that it will be in Detroit that the first human being with a mechanical heart is walking around," said Kantrowitz, who is now headquartered at Sinai Hospital in Detroit. He and his team had been in Brooklyn for 15 years.

Alpena Native Records Heart Transplant Title

ALPENA (AP) — "I go out and do things and I don't worry," said Donald Kaminski, 40, who has passed the 600-day mark in recovering from a heart transplant operation. "That's why I am successful."

Last week, Kaminski passed the 585-day post-operation life span of Dr. Philip Blaiberg of South Africa, one of the world's first heart transplant patients. Kaminski was operated on Dec. 2, 1968, and was given the heart of Robert J. Pushman, 22, of Fenton, who was victim of a car accident.

The Alpena native — who is grandfather of three children — was the world's 99th heart transplant patient. He is No. 12 on the list of survivors. The longest is Louis Russell Jr., an Indianapolis schoolteacher, who received the heart of a 17-year-old boy in an operation at Richmond, Va., Aug. 24, 1968.

Two other heart transplant patients at the University of Michigan Medical Center have died, Philip Barnum of Grand Rapids and Gerald Rector of Yankee Springs.

Budd Firm Will Close Foundry; 800 To Lose Jobs

DETROIT (AP) — The Budd Co. said it will close its gray iron foundry and the production of passenger car brake drums and hubs in Detroit by next June, causing a loss of about 800 jobs.

The firm said the shutdown is being prompted mainly by the "increasing rate of changeover from drum brakes to disc type brakes by all major car manufacturers."

"Our current customer commitments will be fulfilled by June of 1971 and we will then discontinue these manufacturing operations," said Gilbert F. Richards, president of the Budd's automotive division.

Richards also said that "our foundry and passenger machining areas have been the source of substantial financial losses over the past several years and the situation can only deteriorate further as more disc brakes come into use."

The 800 workers — both salaried and hourly paid workers — who will lose their jobs are among the 4,200 Budd employees at its large manufacturing complex on Detroit's east side.

Nixon Hails Peace Efforts Of Bishop

HONG KONG (AP) — Bishop James E. Walsh has received a letter from President Nixon saying his "sacrifice and courage will always be remembered by men who cherish peace and who work for peace."

The Roman Catholic missionary, 79, was released earlier this month after 12 years in a Red Chinese prison.

Officials at Maryknoll hospital, where the bishop was recuperating, said the White House letter was dated July 16.

College Prexy

ALBION (AP) — Appointment of the Rev. Bernard Lomas, 45, as president of Albion College was announced Saturday. He will succeed Dr. Louis Norris, who is retiring. The new president will assume his duties with the fall term. A native of Mackinaw City, he has been serving as senior minister at Cleveland's Epworth-Euclid United Methodist Church.

UAW Will Strike If Need Arises, Woodcock Says

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — United Auto Workers do not want to strike but "will respond if necessary," the UAW president declared here.

Leonard Woodcock said Saturday the union will "do everything we can to get three settlements by Sept. 14" from the "big three" auto makers.

Woodcock, successor to the late Walter Reuther, said the "atmosphere this year is a little more optimistic" regarding labor negotiations.

He said the union could "make a sound, non-inflationary settlement".

Kalamazoo Scene Of Rock Throwing

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Two persons were reported injured Sunday on Kalamazoo's North Side when a group of youths threw rocks and bricks at a car.

Nineteen-year-old Patricia Miller of Birmingham was treated at a Kalamazoo hospital for cuts on the head, suffered when a piece of concrete bounced off the window sill of the car in which she was riding and struck her. A man in the car also was reported hit by one of the flying objects but he declined hospital treatment.

Police said they also received a report of another car struck by a brick shortly after the first incident. No arrests were reported.

Mrs. Larson is the immediate past president of the Upper Peninsula School Boards Association and is on the legislative committee of the MASH.

Increase Noted In Park Camping

Comparative statistics through July 1969 and 1970 indicate that while attendance at district state parks is down, camping is up. A report from the Department of Natural Resources district office in Newberry said that 1,451 of the 1,560 campsites available were occupied on July 18.

Full campgrounds were reported at Brimley, Tahquamenon Falls and Straits Parks. Over 1,000 families registered at Indian Lake and Tahquamenon Falls during the week ending July 18, the report said. Indications are that this year's attendance will not be better than last year's but definitely up from 1968.

A fourth patient, Cordell Robinson, 48, of River Rouge, received a new heart in an operation at the University Medical Center last Tuesday. He is reported in "fine condition."

Kaminski said he visited Robinson several times before the operation, at and that the River Rouge music teacher should have no trouble recovering.

"He's got a good outlook on life and a good attitude. He is real happy-go-lucky, and was not worried about the operation. He was anxious to have it done," said Kaminski.

Kaminski said his body feels perfectly healed. "I just need a small amount of medication," he adds.

He has been passing his time mainly fishing, hunting and occasionally going to the horse races.

Kaminski also said he will go to work this week in public relations for Saf-T-Mate Corp., of Cadillac.

On Sunday, Kaminski went fishing at Long Lake near Alpena, but he failed to catch anything. "It was too hot, 98 degrees, we fished a half hour and we gave up."

He plans to go mule deer hunting this fall in Montana and bird-hunting in Iowa. Before that, he plans to go wild boar hunting in Kentucky.

Environmental Agency, Mercury Discovery Seen Turning Tide Of Pollution

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

Mid-year of 1970 brought two major events that could shape much of the fight to save the American environment throughout this decade, and beyond.

One of them, President Nixon's sweeping attempt to coordinate the federal environmental effort, holds the promise of making the fight more effective.

But the other, the discovery of widespread and dangerous mercury poisoning of many Americans, promises that the struggle will be even more difficult than many had feared.

Benefits Far Away?

While any benefits to come from the President's proposed reorganization are some time away, making this a potential gain, the mercury pollution is an immediate reality and a major loss on any scorecard of man's antipollution race.

In pulling together a variety of pollution control efforts now scattered throughout government into one new agency, the Environmental Protection Agency, the President hopes to overcome the present system, which he said "often defies effective and concerted action."

Some Plans Halted

One phase of the reorganization plan should please environmentalists—removing from the Atomic Energy Commission the authority for setting radiation exposure standards. Environmentalists have long charged the AEC with a conflict of interest, promoting the use of atomic energy while being responsible for regulating it.

The President also proposes combining air and sea research under a new National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration within the Commerce Department. It is being called "Noah."

"Go Date" Set

Unless Congress objects, the entire plan goes into effect in 60 days from the July 8 announcement. Observers expect controversy over the AEC proposal.

The discovery of significant amounts of mercury in waters of at least 17 states takes on even more importance because it appears most people did not suspect the problem even existed. Just how widespread, too, is serious, and what damage to human health may already have occurred, is unknown. And what of all the other chemicals in the environment?

Mercury Poisons

Mercury, the liquid inside ordinary thermometers, is a heavy metal that is poisonous to humans. It finds its way to water, federal officials say, in waste from industry, from paper, chlorine, sodium and plastic operations.

It can cause progressive brain damage, blindness, kidney damage, death. It can persist in water for 100 years, experts say. Industrial pollution experts previously believed that mercury did not dissolve in water, but sank harmlessly to the bottom of rivers and lakes.

Lot Of Adverse News

But for all the awareness, there is still a lot of adverse ecological news.

The government's effort to ban lead from gasoline is in trouble in Washington and the 1970 cars on the road have failed to meet exhaust reduction standards.

If everybody stopped polluting Lake Erie today it would take at least 12 years for the lake to regenerate naturally.

The Seminole and Miccosukee Indians have leased exploration rights to 100,000 acres of their land in the heart of the Florida Everglades to major oil companies, posing a new threat to the ecology of the Everglades.

Further, Florida faces pollution problems of "catastrophic proportions" in the 1970s, according to a state report. Plans for coping with the problem are termed "grossly inadequate and ineffective."

Positive Steps Taken

Of the positive steps taken, many, like the President's reorganization plan, require time before they can produce results.

But as an indication of the changing times and attitudes, there is the new policy of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers—a group often considered as "an enemy of the people" by conservationists because of the engineers' preoccupation with construction.

Lt. Gen. F. J. Clarke, chief of the Army engineers, unveiled the policy statement in Washington, committing the corps to "give full consideration to environmental factors."

Also on the plus side of the environmental scorecard, some beginnings are being made on recycling materials rather than junking them.

Environmental Agency, Mercury Discovery Seen Turning Tide Of Pollution

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

Mid-year of 1970 brought two major events that could shape much of the fight to save the American environment throughout this decade, and beyond.

One of them, President Nixon's sweeping attempt to coordinate the federal environmental effort, holds the promise of making the fight more effective. But the other, the discovery of widespread and dangerous mercury poisoning of many American waters, promises that the struggle will be even more difficult than many had feared.

Benefits Far Away?

While any benefits to come from the President's proposed reorganization are some time away, making this a potential gain, the mercury pollution is an immediate reality and a major loss on any scorecard of man's antipollution race.

In pulling together a variety of pollution control efforts now scattered throughout government into one new agency, the Environmental Protection Agency, the President hopes to overcome the present system, which he said "often defies effective and concerted action."

Some Plans Hailed

One phase of the reorganization plan should please environmentalists—removing from the Atomic Energy Commission the authority for setting radiation exposure standards. Environmentalists have long charged the AEC with a conflict of interest, promoting the use of atomic energy while being responsible for regulating it.

The President also proposes combining air and sea research under a new National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration within the Commerce Department. It is being called "Noah."

"Go Date" Set

Unless Congress objects, the entire plan goes into effect in 60 days from the July 9 announcement. Observers expect controversy over the AEC proposal.

The discovery of significant amounts of mercury in waters of at least 17 states takes on even more importance because it appears most people did not suspect the problem even existed. Just how widespread, how serious, and what damage to human health may already have occurred, is unknown. And what of all the other chemicals in the environment?

Mercury Poisonous

Mercury, the liquid inside ordinary thermometers, is a heavy metal that is poisonous to humans. It finds its way to water, federal officials say, in waste from industry, from paper, chlorine, sodium and plastics operations.

It can cause progressive brain damage, blindness, kidney damage, death. It can persist in water for 100 years, experts say. Industrial pollution experts previously believed that mercury did not dissolve in water, but sank harmlessly to the bottom of rivers and lakes.

Lot Of Adverse News

But for all the awareness, there is still a lot of adverse ecological news.

—The government's effort to ban lead from gasoline is in trouble in Washington and the 1970 cars on the road have failed to meet exhaust reduction standards.

—If everybody stopped polluting Lake Erie today it would take at least 12 years for the lake to regenerate naturally.

—The Seminole and Miccosukee Indians have leased exploration rights to 100,000 acres of their land in the heart of the Florida Everglades to major oil companies, posing a new threat to the ecology of the Everglades.

—Further, Florida faces pollution problems of "catastrophic proportions" in the 1970s, according to a state report. Plans for coping with the problem are termed "grossly inadequate and ineffective."

Positive Steps Taken

Of the positive steps taken, many, like the President's reorganization plan, require time before they can produce results.

But as an indication of the changing times and attitudes, there is the new policy of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers — a group often considered as "an enemy of the people" by conservationists because of the engineers' preoccupation with construction.

Lt. Gen. F. J. Clarke, chief of the Army engineers, unveiled the policy statement in Washington, committing the corps to "give full consideration to environmental factors."

Pilot Plane Built

—Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., for example, is building a pilot plant in Akron, Ohio, for converting used tires into usable materials. If it works, Firestone says it will set up 10 plants around the country.

—The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has awarded a $364,000 grant to the National Association of Secondary Material Industries, Inc., to do a study of possible uses of solid wastes. It will focus on scrap copper, aluminum, lead, zinc, nickel alloys and stainless steel, precious metals, paper stock and textiles.

—On noise pollution, Citizens for a Quieter City, a group of business and professional people in New York City, has designed a project aimed at substantially reducing the noise from jackhammers, automobile horns, sirens and garbage trucks in a 60-block area of Manhattan.
